

Drastic Slap At Moscow Considered In Congress

Crucial Battle Of Hainan Island Now In Sixth Day

TAIPEI, Formosa, (P)—The crucial battle for Hainan island today raged through its sixth day. Sweeping Chinese Nationalist claims of a successful defense gave way to a note of caution. Some independent quarters here were frankly pessimistic.

(A telephoned dispatch from Hainan to the Hong Kong standard said tonight the Nationalists were fighting the Communist invaders only six miles from Hoihow, capital of the big island 10 miles off south China. It reported Nationalist defense headquarters there had been evacuated and that the city was "almost dead" with all shops closed.)

Independent foreign reports reaching Formosa put the fighting about 22 miles southwest of Hoihow. There was no estimate of how many Red troops were involved.

Dean's Shooting Wife Convicted

ATHENS, Ga.—(P)—A jury returned a grim answer last night to the exotic story of Mrs. Kathleen Merry Drewry: two to four years in prison.

The attractive 45-year-old divorcee was convicted of assault with intent to kill for firing two pistol bullets into her ex-husband's girl friend.

She promised today to fight the all-male jury's sentence "all the way through."

She is free in $5,000 bond pending a hearing July 8 for her attorney's motion for a new trial. She still faces a separate account of assault with intent to kill her scholarly former husband John E. Drewry, dean of the school of journalism at the University of Georgia.

Packing an old family pistol and wearing pajamas, Mrs. Drewry fired five shots at the dean and Miss Miriam Thurmond, 26, when she found them together in Miss Thurmond's home Dec. 23. The 47-year-old dean married Miss Thurmond last month.

Mrs. Drewry pictured the dean, her husband for almost a quarter of a century, as a "vile fraud," a lustful "wine swigging deacon" and "philandering two-timer."

Russia Returns 1,244 More Jap Prisoners

TOKYO.—(P)—Russia has returned 1,244 more Japanese war prisoners, including 37 former generals, Kyodo News Agency said today.

(Moscow announced Russia has completed the repatriation program. An official announcement said there remained only 1,437 convicted or suspected war criminals. 971 wanted for alleged crimes against the Chinese and nine ill prisoners who will be sent home later.)

The News Agency said the repatriates landed at the west coast port of Maizuru.

It quoted one of the returning soldiers as estimating about 10,000 Japanese remained in Russian hands. Occupation and Japanese authorities put the figure at more than 300,000 but fear many may be dead.

Blind Man Robbed

DETROIT.—(P)—Two thugs beat and robbed a blind man of $2 on a downtown street yesterday. Conrad Paschenka told police he was attacked just as he lifted his white cane to cross the street.

Air Force Carrier Crashes Near Tokyo With 35 On Board

By RUSSEL BRINES

TOKYO.—(P)—An air force transport plane lost in a storm crashed last night in mountains southwest of Tokyo with 35 persons aboard.

The fate of the 27 passengers, including one of General MacArthur's key officials, and crew of eight was undetermined hours after the first report of the accident was announced by air force headquarters. The four-engine C-54 was returning to Japan from the Philippines.

Bad weather cancelled an aerial hunt by six planes and two helicopters. More than 200 ground searchers had been unable to find the wreckage this afternoon.

Frank E. Pickelle, Chicago, head of MacArthur's foreign trade division, was one of the passengers. With three other occupation workers he was returning from a trade conference at Manila. They were James T. Adams, Washington; Bernard Adams, New York, and Mrs. Teresa Krossner.

A complete list of those aboard was not announced by the air force.

The search centered around one of Japan's most famed beauty spots—the mountains behind the beach town of Odawara, 52 miles southwest of Tokyo on Sagami Bay.

Workers Jump Gun On Telephone Strike In Northern Indiana

By JOHN RANDOLPH

NEW YORK.—(P)—A muddy field in northern Indiana was the center of a bitter dispute today that threatened to jump the gun in what may be a paralyzing national telephone strike.

The sudden crisis in the Bell system came as federal mediators worked overtime to end a broader and long-standing wage conflict before President Truman's strike truce expires next Wednesday.

But union leaders said scattered walkouts which started yesterday over the Indiana quarrel may spread far enough by Monday to crystallize into a national walk-out.

This clash is at South Bend, Ind., between 104 members of Division 6, CIO United Communications Workers of America and the Western Electric Co., the installing and manufacturing subsidiary of the huge American Telephone and Telegraph Co., better known as the Bell system.

The 104 union members struck March 27 when six of them complained the company wanted them to walk half-a-mile across a field deep with mud and water to work on a new television tower.

Yesterday sympathy walkouts started in Seattle, Portland, Ore., Fargo, N. D., and other cities. More were expected over the weekend by Ernest Weaver, president of the division's 10,000 workers.

Shipping Opens At Soo Locks

SAULT STE. MARIE, Mich.—(P)—The Great Lakes shipping season neared its official opening today as the freighter Algen headed north through Lake Huron's cold waters toward the newly-cleared Soo locks.

Once the first freighter is taken through the locks, the season is officially underway.

Special ceremonies will greet the first boat through.

The Algen, owned by the Algoma Central Railway Co. of Sault Ste. Marie, Ont., and bearing a cargo of coal from Toledo, was expected to claim that honor, possibly today.

She was reported near the mouth of the St. Mary's river and close enough to reach the locks before nightfall.

Yesterday the Coast Guard ice-breaker Mackinaw cleared the way through both upbound and downbound channels of the locks and headed into icebound Whitefish Bay of Lake Superior.

The plane, assigned to the 21st Troop Carrier Squadron in the Philippines, was enroute to Tachikawa air base. The base is 20 miles west of Tokyo.

It had stopped at the big U. S. base on Okinawa south of Japan, before starting on the final leg of its flight.

The plane last was heard from at 11:08 last night. It radioed it then was over Oshima, an island at the entrance of Sagami bay. It was running into rain and gusty winds.

The air force gave the C-54 clearance to land at Tachikawa. That was the last heard from it.

First reports to Air Force headquarters said the plane crashed about eight miles inland from Odawara. The Air Force said this indicated the plane was off course. It should have crossed the coast northeast of Odawara.

An intense search was immediately organized. Two flying fortresses, four small observation planes and two helicopters took to the air.

They criss-crossed hundreds of square miles of terrain, flying as low as the cloud-draped mountainous country would permit.

Pilots said the ceiling was about 2,000 feet, which meant that many of the peaks could not be seen. Then the weather closed in, the planes were called off, and the job was left to ground hunters.

By all indications the whole 10,000 will be out by Monday.

Weaver said, "This could be the beginning" of the nation-wide strike, and it will be unless some suitable arrangement is made by the company concerning the South Bend workers.

Although the division's 10,000 are only a small part of the CWA's 200,000 members in the Bell system, they occupy a key position in the industry. Since Western Electric operates in almost every state, the far-flung division picket lines would compel a general telephone work stoppage if they were honored by other divisions.

Before anyone could locate De Lacy, Coroner Arthur H. Smith, who owns the funeral home where Mrs. De Lacy's body was taken, received a telephone call.

"Save a place for me," the husband's voice said. "I'll be joining her."

Shot Through Head

Minutes later one police car came upon the De Lacy auto. The fugitive driver tore up and down Port Huron's main streets for four miles, with the officers in pursuit.

Finally De Lacy swerved around a corner and parked in front of Smith's funeral home.

Officers waited a few minutes, then approached with guns drawn.

They found De Lacy slumped over the wheel of his car, shot through the head. The pistol was in his hand and the note on the seat beside him.

The husband served in the Army during World War II, participating in at least one Pacific island invasion.

Husband Kills Self After Police Chase

PORT HURON, Mich.—(P)—War veteran Robert De Lacy, 26, fired a bullet through his wife's head last night, then led police on an 80-mile-an-hour chase and finally killed himself with the same gun.

The night's violence and tragedy ended months of quarreling between De Lacy and his 28-year-old wife, Thelma.

When it was all over, police found a pencilled note from De Lacy on the seat of his car. "God forgive me," he had written, "but I just loved Thelma too much."

Phones Funeral Home

Many times, St. Clair county sheriff's officers reported, they were summoned to the De Lacy home just outside the city to quiet disturbances.

Last night two neighbor couples were visiting the De Lacy's when the husband, an unemployed garage worker, took a German Luger pistol and killed his wife with one shot after an argument.

Then he drove off in his car, still carrying the gun. Police set up road blocks.

Before anyone could locate De Lacy, Coroner Arthur H. Smith, who owns the funeral home where Mrs. De Lacy's body was taken, received a telephone call.

"Save a place for me," the husband's voice said. "I'll be joining her."

Baltic Plane Incident Stirs Up Washington

Break In Diplomatic Relations Hinted

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

WASHINGTON.—(P)—State department officials weighed several courses of action today to meet a serious new crisis created in Soviet-American relations by the Russian fighter attack on an American plane.

The Baltic incident which cost 10 U. S. airmen their lives prompted demands for drastic action from congress—possibly including a break in diplomatic relations.

Note Bars Settlement

While administration leaders shied away from any such extreme step, several other lines of action remain open.

These include sending a strong new note to Russia, denouncing the Soviet version of the Baltic incident; recalling Ambassador Alan G. Kirk for consultation, and carrying the case either into the United Nations or to the international court at The Hague.

Russia's latest note, bluntly rejecting the United States position on the Baltic affair, evidently foreclosed the possibility of working out any kind of a settlement through normal diplomacy between Washington and Moscow.

Prompt Action Demanded

The note brought a prompt reaction from Secretary of State Acheson at a news conference yesterday, while at the capitol there were immediate demands for severe action by the American government.

House Democratic leader McCormack of Massachusetts said either Kirk should be called home or Soviet-American relations should be broken.

Big Hot Potato Cooking In U. S. To Hand Russia

ANN ARBOR.—(P)—Russia may soon get "a new hot potato of considerable dimensions," says a U. S. state department expert.

Francis H. Russell, director of the Office of Public Affairs, dropped the hint of moves to come in an address here last night at the University of Michigan.

He said he was referring to a "program of technical aid to the world's underdeveloped areas," planned by this country and other free nations.

"The police states are going to find themselves more and more on the defensive," he predicted.

He acknowledged, however, that "the struggle has by no means been all our way."

Referring to recent charges of subversive activities among high government officials, Russell said "It is pretty clear by this time that there are no Communists in the state department."

Attacks on "those to whom the conduct of our foreign affairs is entrusted" can only lead, he said, to "the damaging of our prestige abroad and the shattering of the confidence of our friends overseas that they can rely on us for leadership."

Our best move, he said, is to hit Communist nations where it hurts most—"punching holes in the philosophic foundations of their system."

"If democracy is to gain adherence of people around the world who are making their choice between conflicting ways of life," Russell concluded, "we must be able to show why it is that Communism is inevitably the road to intellectual, moral and physical death, and why it is that the political philosophy on which democracy is built is that of life and growth."

War Games Put On For Truman

By ERNEST B. VACCARO

EGLIN AIR FORCE BASE.—(P)—Steadily worsening relations with Soviet Russia added their own significance today to President Truman's weekend inspection of a spectacular display of American ground and air power.

In the face of developments, including Moscow's rejection of a state department protest against the shooting down of an unarmed American plane over the Baltic region, top policy advisors sought to minimize the importance of the current demonstrations.

These advisors, unquoting by name, emphasized that arrangements for Mr. Truman's visit to Fort Benning and the Eglin Air Force Base here were made several weeks ago, long before the latest exchange of notes with the Russians over the plane incident.

There was little doubt, however, of the seriousness with which Mr. Truman regarded the war games yesterday at Fort Benning, topped by a co-ordinated artillery-infantry-tank attack supported by air support from powerful jet planes.

Mr. Truman was deeply impressed by what he witnessed, together with Secretary of Defense Johnson, other cabinet officers and the nation's top military "brass."

BRUSSELS, Belgium.—(P)—Beastly Albert Charles Leopold Axel Marie Gustave Baudouin, 19-year-old Duke of Brabant and prince to Belgium, stood a good chance today to become the temporary ruler of the Belgians.

His father, exiled King Leopold III, decided yesterday to stay out of his homeland after turning over his royal powers to Baudouin under a compromise agreement drawn up by the leaders of the country's three major political parties.

Liberal party leaders were to meet today to discuss the newest proposal to return the king to his throne and then remove his powers temporarily. Leopold's chief supporters, the Roman Catholic Social Christians of Premier-Designate Paul Van Zeeland, are scheduled to meet tomorrow.

Leopold's chief opponents, the Socialists, deferred their approval of the compromise. They had refused to accept it if Leopold were allowed to remain in Belgium while his son exercised the royal powers.

Three Trainmen Injured In Wreck At North Pontiac

PONTIAC, Mich.—(P)—Three trainmen saved their lives today by jumping from the cab of their locomotive just before an express freight train crashed into the caboose of a standing freight train. They were injured, but not critically.

The wreck that also took in a third freight train on a parallel track occurred at 6 a. m. in the Grand Trunk Western yards here.

Besides the locomotive, 12 cars of the three trains were derailed and several flattened by the impact.

Injured crewmen of the Grand Trunk Western express freight were William Emmons, 49, of Detroit, the engineer; Charles F. Beach, 30, of Battle Creek, the fireman; and John Nabors, 47, of Detroit.

Emmons suffered rib fractures, cuts and bruises and possible internal injuries. Nabors had multiple cuts, bruises and possible internal injuries. Beach was treated for minor cuts and released from Pontiac general hospital.

Ex-Policeman Kills Bandit With Gun In His Detroit Store

DETROIT.—(P)—A former policeman who became a storekeeper shot and killed a bandit who had the drop on him last night.

Harvey S. Conrad, 53, owner of a patent medicine store, was held up at gunpoint and told to turn over contents of the cash register.

Conrad reached for the cash register but, instead of money, he came up with a gun and blazed away at the bandit.

"I fired five shots and he folded right up," Conrad said.

Police identified the dead man as Andrew J. Galek, 23, Detroit.

Bulgaria Cuts Off News Sources Of AP

LONDON.—(P)—A reliable source said privately yesterday that the Bulgarian government has cut off news gathering facilities of the Associated Press in Bulgaria. No reason was given for the action.

No news has been received from (P) news sources in Bulgaria in some time. Efforts to telephone Dimitar Mishev, Bulgarian citizen who has served as (P) correspondent at Sofia, were without success.

In April 8, Nathan Polowetzky, American correspondent of the (P) in Prague was expelled by the Czechoslovak government. Polowetzky was accused of unobjective reporting but there was no documentation of the charges.

Another defendant was sentenced to life imprisonment. Three other defendants received jail terms ranging from 18 to 25 years.

All six had pleaded guilty and expressed regret at their deeds, the Czech radio announced yesterday. During the trial four former officials of the U. S. Embassy were charged with directing the alleged spy ring.

Son And Pals Held In $6,700 Holdup Of Father At Flint

FLINT, Mich.—(P)—A sullen youth who plotted a $6,700 holdup of his father and helped two companions carry it out was held with his pals today for armed robbery.

Charles Isaac, 22-year-old son of poor Michael Isaac, 52, was arrested in Royal Oak, Detroit suburb, a few hours after the robbery here.

Royal Oak police also nabbed Frank St. John, 19, and John Mastek, 17, both of Detroit. Flint officers brought them back here late last night. The trio admitted the holdup.

Police said the elder Isaac was slugged with a hammer and nearly knocked unconscious by St. John and Mastek when they demanded at gunpoint a bag containing $6,700 the grocer had to cash checks at his store.

While young Isaac waited in the getaway car outside his father's home, the gunmen also locked Isaac's wife, Helen, and their 22-month-old grandson, Roger, in a closet.

Police asked Charles if he knew his father would be harmed when he planned the holdup, but the dark-haired prisoner would not answer.

Detective Robert Corington, who questioned young Isaac, said the youth told him he knew his father was going to the bank and planned to stop at the house before taking the money to the Broadway Market, which he owns.

Corington said Charles Isaac had a police record, but his companions apparently had not been in trouble before.

All three were booked on robbery armed charges.

Housing Meets Planned Here

Harnischfeger Corp. Officials To Speak

Possibilities for launching a Harnischfeger housing project in Escanaba will be discussed at a series of meetings to be held here on Monday and Tuesday, Secretary Hugh Grow of the Escanaba Chamber of Commerce stated today.

John Scott and Roy Brent, both of the houses division of the Harnischfeger corporation, Port Washington, Wis., will address the meetings and will show colored, sound movies depicting the operations at the factory and the erection of houses on the lots.

Address Lions Club

They will present the program at the Lions club meeting at the Sherman hotel at 6:45 p. m. Monday and will repeat at a meeting of local building contractors at the same place at 8:30 p. m.

On Tuesday evening, Scott and Brent will address a meeting of prospective builders at the Escanaba city hall, beginning at 8 o'clock. All persons interested are invited to attend.

The Harnischfeger corporation began building homes in 1935 and to date has produced about 5,000 units.

Harnischfeger Expands

The Harnischfeger corporation is now expanding its truck crane and electric welder plants in Escanaba. Doubling of the size of the truck crane factory will be completed in July. The Austin company is now at work on the construction of three additional bays.

As soon as the Delta Furniture company moves to its new building, the Harnischfeger will transfer its A-C welder plant from Milwaukee to the vacated space.

It is expected that Harnischfeger will have its Escanaba payroll increased from 200 to 350 by the end of this year. Herman Menck, Milwaukee, vice president and general works manager, on a visit to Escanaba, several weeks ago, stated that this year's building program is not any way to be construed as the end of Harnischfeger's expansion in Escanaba. He indicated the corporation had other plans for Escanaba within the next few years.

Housing Shortage Here

There is a shortage of modern homes in Escanaba, according to a survey made by the Escanaba Chamber of Commerce. A number of new employees of the Harnischfeger corporation and other local industries have experienced difficulties in obtaining satisfactory housing.

The line extends from St. Louis to Chicago and Indianapolis with stops in Springfield, Decatur, Champaign-Urbana and Danville, Ill., and Crawfordsville, Ind.

Daily Nationwide Trips Tentatively Set May 19

Daily flights of Nationwide Airlines to Escanaba from Detroit are tentatively scheduled for resumption Friday, May 19, Fred H. Sensiba, airport manager, said today.

"We haven't had official notice of starting of daily flights but understand that is the date planned," said Sensiba.

Northbound Nationwide planes, which come here from Menominee are due out of Escanaba at 12:30 p. m. and southbound planes which arrive from Iron Mountain, are due out at 4:30 p. m.

Sensiba said inauguration of service to Escanaba by Wisconsin Central airlines still is "in the books" for about June 1 but is "not definite."

W-C Seeks Loan

He asserted Wisconsin Central expects to have its communications system for weather reports and government clearance installed at the local office by that time.

Improvement to the local field await better weather conditions. Bids for the project have not been asked yet by the city.

At Green Bay, Francis M. Higgins, Wisconsin Central president, reported his company had applied for a reconstruction finance corporation loan of $300,000 which, with $224,000 in mail pay due from the government, would be used to purchase new DC-3 planes.

They will replace Lockheed 10-passenger planes now being used.

Meanwhile at Washington, a civil aeronautics board examiner recommended that Turner airlines, an affiliate of Nationwide airlines, be given an airline feeder route held by Parks Airlines, Inc., of East St. Louis, Ill.

Public Housing Plan Proposed

Marquette Considers PHA Program

MARQUETTE, Mich. — Marquette's city commission plans to investigate the possibility of establishing a public housing program here with the assistance of the Federal Public Housing administration.

Preliminary plans were discussed at a conference of the commission and City Manager James A. Clulo with Hugo C. Schwartz, Detroit, director of the Detroit field office of the PHA.

Clulo said the commission will discuss the matter further at a regular meeting later.

Low Income Housing Plan

Schwartz explained the public housing program of the Federal government and the benefits which the city could obtain from such a plan.

The PHA is based on the National Housing Act of 1949, he said, and is aimed at providing good standard housing for persons of lower incomes.

In all, 810,000 housing units are provided for the United States, of which Marquette could get its "fair share," Schwartz said.

Housing Commission Needed

If the program were to be adopted, a housing commission would have to be established, with members appointed by the mayor, Schwartz added.

This commission could apply for public housing, and a preliminary loan could be obtained from the Federal government for planning purposes, such as hiring an architect and making necessary land surveys.

The projects are financed by a guaranty by the U. S. government of an annual contribution toward total expenses, including the amortization and interest of bonds which would be floated by the housing commission to finance the construction of the houses.

Plan Conference On Youth Here

Michigan Chairman Will Attend

The needs of children and youth will be considered here May 19 at an Upper Peninsula Citizens' conference to be held at the Escanaba junior high school.

Mrs. Margaret Price, chairman of the Michigan Youth commission and a national officer of the White House Children's conference, will be one of the principal speakers.

This conference is one of several being held in Michigan and other states preliminary to the 1950 White House conference on the needs of children and youth.

The White House conference, one of a series held every decade since 1909, will be based on the thinking of interested citizens from communities in the United States.

The program here will be designed to stimulate thinking about needs of children in the immediate area, to prepare suggestions to be forwarded to the 1950 White House conference, and to assist each community in considering plays for local approaches to problems.

John A. Lemmer, Escanaba school superintendent, and Dr. M. Cooperstock of Marquette are in charge of arrangements. Both are members of the Michigan Youth commission.

Sawmill To Reopen Next Week

The Wells Crate & Lumber company will increase its payroll from 30 to 45 persons with the reopening of its sawmill next week, Harry Holperin, president and general manager, announced today.

The plant, which is located on the old Michigan Tanning & Export company site, was opened in July, 1947, to take advantage of the large supply of aspen timber in this area. Birch, maple and basswood logs are also used.

Most aspen is trucked from within a 30-mile radius. The timber is bought in the form of 100-inch bolts, with a top of seven inches and over. The present market price for the 100-inch aspen bolts is $12 per cord. Mr. Holperin said the company is now buying all the timber it can get because of the heavy current market demand for its products.

The Wells plant is producing bed frame lumber for some of the largest furniture and mattress spring companies in the country. It is also making much crating for container, electrical, radio and television concerns.

The modern electric sawmill has a productive capacity of 25,000 board feet daily. Fifteen men will be employed on this operation, beginning next week.

Mr. Holperin is the head of a similar industry, employing more than 100 persons at Eagle River, Wis. He has hopes that the Wells plant will be expanded to eventually employ about 75.

Phelps To Talk On S. America

U. of M. Lecturer Here Monday Night

"Latin American Economic Problems" will be the subject of the lecture by Dr. Maynard Phelps, professor of marketing at the University of Michigan, at the Escanaba junior high school 7:45 Monday night.

Postwar developments in Latin America will be described by the speaker. Foreign marketing problems also will be discussed.

Dr. Phelps has served as instructor and professor of marketing at the University of Michigan since 1926. He also has lectured at the University of California and Columbia university.

He is a partner in the Phelps Bros. Elevator company, a consultant of Proctor and Gamble and the Masonite corporation, and has served as an economic advisor in federal government service. He has served with the Rosenman Mission to Western European countries, the Allied Commission on Reparation, the Paris Conference on Reparation, and the Inter-Allied Reparation Agency.

Dr. Phelps is the author of several books and pamphlets on marketing problems.

Briefly Told

No Meeting — A special meeting of the Escanaba Philatelic society that was tentatively planned for Sunday afternoon has been cancelled. No meeting will be held until the regular May meeting.

Rotary Program — The Escanaba Rotary club at its next meeting will hear a musical program presented by an Escanaba high school instrumental quintet directed by Robert Meyer, instrumental music instructor.

Lacked Fire Permit — Fred Roberts of Gladstone, route one, pleaded guilty this morning before Justice H. H. Ranguette of burning brush without a permit. He was assessed a fine of $10 and court costs of $5.50. Roberts was arrested by Conservation Officer L. C. Brown.

Home Economics Students Go To Marquette Meet

Fifty home economics students in the Escanaba senior and junior high schools and their instructors, Miss Marion Shane and Miss Patricia Houle left this morning for Marquette to attend the annual home economics day observance there.

Headquarters for the meetings are at Northern Michigan College of Education. Miss Shane is head of the home economics department in the public schools here and Miss Houle is in charge of the senior high school unit.

Three junior high school students, Beth Parker, Marilyn Wellman and Elaine Polzin will model dresses in a style show, and members of the unit are exhibiting a tea table centerpiece made by the students.

Those attending were guests at a tea at the college this afternoon.

Will Build Dock

Rogers is now leasing property but is negotiating for the purchase of the 60-acre industrial site and its buildings. He plans to dredge the waterfront and build a dock for the mooring of fishing tugs as soon as weather conditions permit. The drying kilns, built by the woodworking company, will be transformed into quick freeze and cooler departments.

During the past winter, about forty men were employed in ice fishing operations for the Rogers Fish company. Some were employees and others were fishing on shares. Rogers has 94 boxes of gill nets and 34 boxes of trawls. Cotton twine is being replaced by nylon, and by the middle of next month he will have about 50 boxes of the new nets, which are

Plan Job Panel for Conference

About 50 Educators Here April 24-25

Six Escanabans will participate in a panel discussion on jobs for high school graduates at the vocational education conference to be held here Monday and Tuesday, approximately 50 Upper Michigan school administrators and teachers of vocational education will attend the sessions.

Principal speakers will be William C. Hoopes of NMCE, Marquette, Harold Byram of Michigan State college, George Gilbert of Marquette, representing the state department of public instruction, Ralph C. Wenrich of the vocational education office of the state public instruction department, and the Hon. John Luecke, commissioner of conciliation for the federal mediation and conciliation service.

George Ruwiche, assistant high school principal here, will serve as moderator for the job panel. Participants will be Mrs. Elva Him of the Michigan Bell Telephone company; Einar Beck of the Escanaba Paper company, Charles Gessner of the Fair store, Elmer Swanson of the Birds Eye Veneer company and Joseph Heirman, Delta County agricultural agent.

Will Visit Schools
Following registration at the Legion clubrooms here at 9:30 a. m., Monday, the educators will hear discussions on the purposes of the conference, the crucial problems in vocational education and the relationship of vocational education to the total school program.

Monday afternoon, conference delegates will visit Escanaba and Stephenson schools to observe work in various vocational education departments. Joseph Guey, superintendent at Stephenson, E. W. Ossmann, superintendent of schools at St. Ignace, Frank Sweeney, Kingsford school superintendent, and Walter Peters, superintendent of the Rapid River schools, will serve as group leaders for the school visits.

The conference will conclude at 2 p. m., Tuesday, following a luncheon in the Delta Hotel, with Supt. John Lemmer of Escanaba as chairman, and the Hon. John Luecke as principal speaker.

Allan Mathison, vocational education director here, will preside at the dinner meeting in the House of Ludington Monday evening, at which the job panel will be conducted. Edward Edick, principal of Escanaba Senior High school, will be in charge of the noon luncheon Monday.

Among state officers who will attend, in addition to those already listed, are W. B. Hawley, assistant state director of vocational education; and six members of his department; Miss Meta Vosschuek, home economics educator at Michigan State college; A. A. Hazzani of the University of Michigan, Ann Arbor, and Adrian Trimpe of Western Michigan college of Education, Kalamazoo.

Permit Needed To Start Fire

Grassland Blazes Reported Here

Burning permits are required of all persons burning brush, rubbish, or grass lands in areas outside the cities whenever the ground is not covered by snow, according to John Chriske, conservation department district supervisor.

The warning came today following a report that three grass fires were reported yesterday, one at Flat Rock and two in the vicinity of Wells. One fire got out of control from a brush fire started without a permit.

Controlled Burning
Burning permits are required to insure that burning is done only during safe periods, and to provide fire control agencies with information concerning the location of controlled burning, Chriske said.

Permits are available free of charge at conservation district headquarters in Escanaba, all conservation officers, fire officers and fire lookouts. The applicant must know the forty, section, town and range upon which they wish to burn then asking for a permit.

Now Is The Time
A permit does not relieve from responsibility the person to whom it is issued. The person receiving the permit must keep the fire under control. The ideal time to burn brush and grass is now, when moisture is still in the ground.

Individuals guilty of carelessness with fire may be prosecuted and, upon conviction, subject to a maximum fine of $100 plus costs and payment of damages and cost of fire suppression.

Plan U. P. Program Of Traffic Safety

A program of traffic safety sponsored by the Michigan State Safety Commission with the cooperation of 69 other local and state agencies was discussed yesterday at Marquette, particularly its application to the Upper Peninsula.

Attending the meeting from Delta county were Sheriff William E. Miron, president of the Michigan Sheriffs' Association, and Police Chief M. F. Ettenhofer of Escanaba.

During the coming month of May vehicle maintenance will be stressed, followed by speed control in June and July, signs and signals in August, child safety in September, night accidents and pedestrians in October and November, and the traffic hazard of the drunk driver in December.

Eric Stonecliff Fined For Not Having License

Eric Stonecliff of 1114 North 18th street, driver of the car which injured Otto Dahlbeck of Gladstone at the Y-intersection here last Saturday, was arraigned in justice court here today on a charge of not having an operator's license. He was assessed a fine of $3 and court costs of $2.

Following the accident last Saturday, Stonecliff was ticketed by Escanaba police for reckless driving, but was not arraigned immediately, pending further determination of the condition of Dahlbeck.

Dahlbeck was walking east across the intersection of Washington avenue, Stephenson avenue and Sneridan road, when he was struck by Stonecliff's car, which was going north on Washington avenue. The Gladstone man suffered a concussion and severe lacerations.

New Deanery Headed By Rev. Pelissier Of Iron Mountain

IRON MOUNTAIN, Mich.—(P)—Appointment of the Rev. A. C. Pelissier, pastor of SS Mary and Joseph church here and one of the senior priests in this area, as dean of the new Iron Mountain deanery, was announced by the Most Rev. Thomas L. Noa, Bishop of the Catholic diocese of Marquette.

The new deanery will comprise Dickinson and Iron counties, both formerly under the Gogebic deanery along with Ontonagon and Gogebic counties. Eighteen priests are in the new Iron Mountain deanery.

New Iron Mountain Junior Chamber Of Commerce Formed

IRON MOUNTAIN, Mich.—Organization of a Junior Chamber of Commerce has been completed here, with John W. Jensen named temporary chairman and Don Cooper, temporary secretary. Permanent officers will be elected at a meeting to be held early next month. Ernest Skog, Marquette, national director of the Jaycee, and J. D. Jorgenson and Ken Persitz, vice presidents of the Marquette Junior Chamber, helped organize the unit here.

SPEAKS HERE MONDAY—Rev. Konstantine Wipp, of Marquette, a native of Estonia who was forced to flee his country because of political conditions, will be the guest speaker at the meeting of the Presbyterian Men's club here Monday evening. The dinner meeting will begin at 6:15 o'clock. He is now pastor of Grace Methodist church in Marquette.

Death Claims Mrs. Mickelson

Services Will Be Held Monday Afternoon

Mrs. Otto M. Mickelson, 60, of 422 South 15th street, widely known resident of Escanaba, died yesterday afternoon at the family home after a three months' illness.

She was born, Irene Elizabeth Stewart, in Arlington, S. D., October 14, 1889, and her marriage to Mr. Mickelson took place in Fargo on February 27, 1913. She had lived in Escanaba for the past 30 years.

She was a member of the First Presbyterian parish and before her illness was active in church and club organizations.

She is survived by her husband, two daughters, Mrs. L. K. Bail-larson and Mrs. Thomas Quinn, both of Escanaba; the following sisters, Mrs. Fred Heath of Nunda, S. D., Mrs. Carl Runner, Seattle, Wash.; Mrs. J. H. Callaman, Arlington, S. D.; Mrs. George Schwartz of Mott, N. D., and Mrs. J. J. O'Donnell of Cleveland, N. D., and seven grandchildren.

Funeral services will be held at the Boyce funeral home chapel at 2:30 Monday with Rev. James G. Ward officiating and burial will be in Lakeview cemetery. Friends may call at the funeral home beginning at 3 Sunday afternoon.

Death Mystery May Be Solved

Body On Bay Shore That Of Suicide?

The mystery of the body found on the bay shore south of Escanaba 20 months ago today appeared near solution according to Sheriff William E. Miron.

New information from the state crime laboratory at Lansing and a letter from a Pennsylvania woman seeking information of her missing brother lead the officers to believe the body may be that of Clair A. Beam, a veteran of World War I, who was 59 years old when he disappeared in mid-August, 1948.

In ill-health and threatening suicide, Beam was last heard from in Chicago.

Find More Clues
The body believed to be his was found August 7, 1948, on the shore of Green bay about 15 miles south of Escanaba.

Efforts to identify the badly decomposed body were unsuccessful. A medicine bottle, charred fragments of a wallet in the ashes of a fire, a pair of glasses and the clothing on the body were the only clues.

State crime laboratories reported after examination of the clues that the initials C. B. were embroidered inside the coat and the name "Beam" was printed on the neckband of the coat. Measurement of the clothing indicated the man was about five feet five inches tall. Among the charred papers in the wallet was the telephone number of a Chicago employment agency, and a VFW membership card.

Brother Planned Suicide
The Chicago police department of missing persons reported to Sheriff Miron that it received a letter from Mrs. A. R. Krider, Johnstown, Pa., reporting that her brother, Clair A. Beam was missing since mid-August, 1948.

She described him as about five and one-half feet tall. She reported that he had told relatives in Ohio and a brother in Ladysmith, Wis., that he intended suicide. Beam mailed luggage containing clothing, a watch, and other effects including a last will to his brother from Chicago.

Mrs. Krider wrote that she believed her brother then left Chicago.

Believe Solved
The body on the bay shore 15 miles south of Escanaba was found the morning of Aug. 27, 1948, by Bill Williams of Star Dust lodge on Misery Bay, who reported it to the sheriff's office.

The many similarities in the description of the body and that of the missing Clair A. Beam led officers to believe the mystery, now nearly two years old, has been solved.

One other clue has yet to be checked, and may prove conclusive identification. With the body found on the shore was a pair of glasses. If it can be determined that Beam wore glasses and where he had obtained them the identification may be complete.

4-H Members Hold Program

Achievement Day Is Held In Escanaba

The annual spring Achievement Day program for Delta county 4-H club boys and girls was held today in Escanaba, with the afternoon program ending following the presentation of awards by Mel Nyquist, county 4-H agent.

More than 450 4-H boys and girls gathered in Escanaba for the Achievement Day at which they exhibited articles made last winter in club projects. These articles were judged starting yesterday and awards include listing as county 4-H honor members.

Feature of the program was the dress review, with 275 girls modeling garments they made. A team of six girls from this group will represent Delta county at the annual Upper Peninsula 4-H club camp at Chatham this summer.

A talent show in which the boys and girls participated, and other program events completed the Achievement Day program.

Weary Tug Crewmen Tell Of Nightmare Trip From Honolulu

SAN FRANCISCO — (P)—"It was worse than Bastogne."

And five weary and grimy crewmates agreed with deck-hand Bill Lewis as the battered 22-ton tug, the Omar, glided into the Oakland estuary after a nightmare 2,500-mile voyage from Honolulu.

Drifting hopelessly for a week, her men starving while mountainous waves swamped the little vessel's engine-room and food supplies—that was the story the Omar's crew told yesterday.

Sailor Lewis, a veteran of 1944's winter fighting in Belgium, said Bastogne was bad, "but believe me, this was worse."

The Omar's skipper, Captain Fred McDonald of Oakland, agreed.

McDonald, 40, said he signed on his crew of five at Honolulu to bring the rusted, 32-year-old tug across the Pacific with an even smaller tug, the Golden Gate, in tow.

Both had been bought for resale in San Francisco. An inland tug, the Omar had never made an ocean trip before.

When the Omar sailed 26 days ago, McDonald scribbled in his log—"Everything fine, morale high."

Next day he was writing, "Looks like we're in for a little blow. Green seas on deck all the time."

Rules Of Bipartisanship Should Be Understandable To Everyone

SENATOR HOMER FERGUSON has asked some pointed questions regarding the goal of a bipartisan foreign policy. In general, Michigan's junior senator would like to know how the rules of bipartisanship are going to be formulated and how the policy itself is going to be implemented to make it work successfully. The questions are logical and the answers to them surely would be helpful to many congressmen in determining their own role in foreign affairs.

Few persons will deny that bipartisanship in foreign affairs is a good policy for the United States, particularly now that we are playing the lead role in the struggle against Communism. However, without a definite slate of rules on which to operate, bi-partisanship means different things to different people.

Senator Ferguson would like to know the answers to such questions as the following:

What is the State Department's conception of a bipartisan foreign policy? What does the department expect of both of the principal political parties? How is the policy expected to work with reference to the president's prerogatives in foreign affairs? Are party leaders in congress to participate actively in the formulation of foreign policy? How should the personnel from both parties who are to be selected in bipartisan arrangements be selected?

Bipartisanship has worked rather dramatically in the past but only because Senator Vandenberg of Michigan was able to keep the Republicans aligned upon behalf of the program. Now that Senator Vandenberg is ill, bipartisanship has become simply an objective, not a reality. Responsibility for this rests primarily with President Truman and his administration officials for their failure to bring Republican leaders into the policy-making level of foreign policy.

Senator Ferguson makes a very good point in proposing that a definite set of rules be provided so that everyone will know exactly how bipartisanship will be created and what it will mean.

Free Press Requires Responsible Reporting

B. E. McKELWAY, editor of the Washington Star, speaking at the annual meeting of the American Society of Newspaper Editors in Washington Thursday made a statement that we believe deserves careful thought, not only by newspaper editors, but by newspaper readers as well. Editor McKelway said, "Our press is the freest press in all the world, freer than it has ever been, but there has been no time in the history of our country when this freedom, coupled with irresponsibility, can do such grave injury to our people; or when this freedom, responsibly exercised, can do so much to help them."

The statement recognizes the responsibility of the American press to use its influence for the betterment and the development of the American way of life. American newspapers on the whole fully subscribe to that objective. Newspapers that fail in their responsibility will and die, ultimately taken over by successors who will fulfill the obligations of the press.

The protection of the free press guaranteed by the United States constitution has enabled American newspapers to do an outstanding and complete reporting job. It is because of that fact that the American people are the best informed in all the world. That is the key to the success of American democracy and our way of life. Democracy as we understand it, in which the people actually govern themselves, could never succeed without a free press. That freedom brings an obligation to responsibility to which Editor McKelway referred in his address at the meeting of the Society of Newspaper Editors.

TOMBSTONES CAN WAIT

Traffic fatalities rose almost 47% in Milwaukee in the first three months of this year compared to the same period of 1949, the state motor vehicle department reports. In the same period 152 persons died in state traffic accidents compared with 122 in the three month period of 1949. In Milwaukee the deaths increased from 15 to 22. Speed is our greatest highway killer. In the nation last year 10,100 of the 31,800 persons killed in traffic accidents died because a driver exceeded the speed limit. If Milwaukee and the state are to cut down the growing traffic death rate motorists will have to cut down on speed and increase their caution.

They will have to take the advice that a tombstone manufacturer put on a sign on a well traveled eastern road: "Don't hurry! We can wait!"

Questions and Answers

Q—Who founded the Society of the Christophers and what is the group's objective?

A—Father James Kelly of New York City is founder-director of the Christophers, meaning Christ-bearers. There are at least 200,000 members, chiefly in the United States. There are no dues, no meetings, no denominational requirements. The basic idea is to get people to do something besides just grumble about things they don't like in education, government, labor-management and so on.

Q—How much of the world's supply of coal does the United States possess?

A—Coal reserves in the United States equal 42 per cent of all the reserves in the world. Or, put in other words, our coal reserves amount to almost 22,000 tons per person of our population today.

Fibbin'

By Gordon Martin

It's a fact we're always trying to impress upon our youth, that it's wrong to tell a lie and that they have to speak the truth. Kids are told about the merits of an ever-honest tongue, and that truth is sure a virtue for the old and for the young. But sometimes adults don't stop to think of how they fib each day, as they substitute some double-talk for what they'd like to say.

Now suppose you meet a lady friend and stop to have a chat, and she asks you how you like her very chic and darling hat. And you say it's simply beautiful, but brother, that's not so, for you really think she's wearing quite a terrible chapeau. Or perhaps you hostess asks you how you like her dinner dish, and you say it's fine but know it's stuff for which you'll never wish.

And you fib more because another's feelings might be hurt, lest you say a child's adorable—the bratty little squirt! So it goes day after day as we go down the road of life, often saying what we don't believe to dodge away from strife. There are quite a few occasions when the truth we sadly lack, but the thing that really counts is whether lies are white or black.

Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON — The public doesn't know it, but the real reason for waste regarding veterans hospitals is politics. It is also why conscientious Dr. Paul Magnuson, chief of the Veterans administration's medical division, has been on the point of resigning.

He wants hospitals located where medical conditions are best, while genial Veterans Administrator Carl Gray sometimes locates them where political conditions are best. Unlike Gen. Omar Bradley, he doesn't know how to stand up against political pressure.

Here are some specific examples: Miley Bob Doughton's Hospital — The V. A. will soon build a 1,000-bed neuropsychiatric hospital at Salisbury, N. C., despite the fact that medical authorities want it at Durham or Winston-Salem where it would be near Duke university or the future site of Wake Forest college. Doctors always like to place neuropsychiatric hospitals near medical centers, because nerve patients sometimes have a complication of diseases.

This view was also supported by Secretary of the Army Gordon Gray, a North Carolinian. But another North Carolinian disagreed. He was Congressman Bob Doughton, who, as chairman of the ways and means committee, is one of the most powerful members of congress. Despite economies and medical preferences, Doughton wanted the hospital in his district. So it is going to be put there.

Senator Murray's Hospital — A 100-bed hospital is being built at Miles City, Mont., also far from a medical center, as a favor to Sen. James Murray of Montana. This hospital was originally scheduled to be part of a V. A. project at Minot, North Dakota, until "Doctor" Murray decided otherwise. It will now cost the taxpayers the huge sum of $4,476,891, or more than $44,000 per bed.

Congressman Vinson's Hospital — The V. A. has been forced to take over and maintain another out-of-the-way hospital at Dublin, Ga., built by the navy as a favor to Congressman Carl Vinson of Georgia, powerful chairman of the armed services committee.

This hospital is so far from a main-line railroad that the navy had to build a special airfield to bring in patients. Also, only 360 of its 500 beds are in use, due to lack of medical personnel. To staff the Dublin hospital, Dr. Magnuson finally had to order 15 doctors there from other V. A. hospitals. Whereupon eight of the 15 resigned.

Budget Bureau's Hospital — Another glaring case is at Augusta, Ga., where the V. A., under pressure from the budget bureau, is being forced to take over a ramshackle navy hospital for neuropsychiatric patients. The main building is an old hotel, with corridors and doors too narrow for hospital use.

More important, this hospital cannot be adequately staffed with doctors and technicians to handle its 1,000 beds. The V. A. wants to build a new psychiatric hospital in Atlanta, Ga., where doctors from Emory university, a first-class medical school, would be available for residence work. Such a hospital could be built for what it will cost to maintain the navy "snakepit" at Augusta for 10 years. However, the budget bureau says no.

MERRY-GO-ROUND

Mrs. Patrick J. Hurley, blonde and beautiful wife of the ex-secretary of war, was almost in tears over her husband's television debate with Mrs. Roosevelt, during which he virtually called the former first lady a liar. The Hurleys had been weekend guests of Mrs. Roosevelt at Hyde Park just before the television show, and Mrs. Hurley confided to friends that Pat spent the whole time fighting with Mrs. R. . . A Seattle law firm which disagrees with Secretary of Interior Oscar Chapman's Alaska policies has had detectives shadowing him—much to the amusement of Mrs. Chapman. . . One congressman who believes in answering roll calls is Rep. John Whitaker, Kentucky Democrat. Confined to the hospital recently, he left word with the house doorkeeper, "Fishbait" Miller, to notify him when important issues were up for balloting. Despite protests from nurses, Whitaker took a taxi to congress for every important vote.

SATURDAY MISCELLANY

Fort Wayne: Is it correct to speak of our smallest coin as a "penny"?—D. O. Answer: Strictly speaking, no. The penny is an English coin, a survival of the Anglo-Saxon penny. The correct name of the U. S. coin is cent, a French word meaning "one hundred."

Industry: Is "infant tango" the right name of the skin eruptions children have?—A. H.

Answer: Sorry, no. The correct name is impetigo, pronounced: IM-pee-TY-goe. It is from the Latin impex, "attack, onset."

Quonset: The broadcaster accents realization on the second syllable, pronouncing it like the name "AL." Right?—J. H. T.

Answer: Wrong. The correct American pronunciation is: REE-uh-l-BAY'shun.

San Diego: Should we tread the "straight and narrow path," or is the word "strait"?—Mrs. C. M.

Answer: The expression is a corruption of, "Strait is the gate, and narrow is the way, which leadeth unto life and few there be that find it."—Matt. vii, 14.

The word strait means "a narrow passage of water connecting two large bodies of water," as the Strait of Gibraltar; hence, anything narrow or restricted.

Ogden: We have an argument. I hold that it is incorrect to say, "He has gone bankrupt." Do I have to back down?—F. F.

Answer: Not an inch. There is no such adjective as "bankrupted." Correct: He is bankrupt.

SAVING WILDLIFE RESOURCES is one of Uncle Sam's big continuing jobs, started late, when vast numbers of fish, game and birds had been lost because of lack of sound conservation methods and policies. Top left, one of the few remaining herds of bison, which once roamed the plains in their millions, now reduced to a few thousand, all on U. S. preserves. Top center, a scientist of the Fish and Wildlife Service studying clams to try to discover why ratio of dead to live seafood is so disproportionately heavy. Upper right, fishing in a pond stocked with bass. Millions of fish now are stocked in thousands of streams throughout the country each year. Shown in the photo at lower left are elk grazing under peaceful protection on a game refuge. Right, conservation is restoring the nation's waterfowl, severely decimated in recent years.

Uncle Sam Makes Concerted Effort For Restoring Wildlife Resources

By JEAN MARIAN WOLFE

As millions of Americans once more flock to the great outdoors, most of them at one time or another will come into direct contact with the stalwart men of the U. S. Fish and Wildlife Service.

In all parts of the nation, and both on and off the great parks and forests, they will meet them and they will see evidences of their work.

Actually, however, the remarkable and little known activities of this arm of the federal government affect the lives of U. S. citizens at all seasons and in their homes as well as in their industries, places of business—and in the secluded spots in which they may spend an out-of-doors vacation.

2,000,000 Licensed Hunters The Fish and Wildlife Service has an immense job, covering all of the wild or non-domesticated animals that inhabit this land and its surrounding seas; birds, mammals and fishes.

A resource of great recreational importance is the waterfowl. Within the United States nearly 2,000,000 licensed waterfowl hunters depend on the flights of ducks and geese for sport during the annual hunting season. The waterfowl are peculiarly a concern of Uncle Sam because of their migratory habits. The spring and fall migrations carry some of these birds all the way from the Arctic Ocean into the northern part of South America. Because they cross international boundaries, passing different stages of their lives in different countries, they, along with most other migratory birds, are the subject of international treaties.

Size of the waterfowl populations fluctuates greatly. The numbers of birds are controlled by factors, some of which operate during the breeding season, others during the hunting season, and still others during the winter months in southern areas.

Within the past few years, the U. S. has experienced and weathered a sharp decline in waterfowl populations. This followed a period when drought conditions, sweeping those of the 1930's, again were spreading over large and important sections of the waterfowl breeding grounds. Vast areas failed to produce an adequate crop of birds and reduced flights went south in the fall. Unfortunately, they were met by the largest army of waterfowl hunters in history. In 1934 there were only about 500,000 duck hunters. About the beginning of the war there were 1,500,000. Now the total is about 2,000,000 and perhaps more.

Thousands of elk, deer, and antelope have been moved from areas where they have become too numerous in relation to their food supply, and released on depleted or vacant ranges. Part of the funds are spent to acquire land needed for wildlife use, such as marsh areas for waterfowl, range for mountain sheep, winter range for deer or elk, and management areas for upland game.

This entire program is one of the most far-reaching ventures in wildlife conservation ever attempted.

Tempered to most Americans may mean just dropping a line and hoping for the best; but fisheries as an industry played a decisive role in early colonial history and have been vitally important to the nation ever since.

Big Commercial Yield

The commercial yield, exclusive of the catch by sportsmen or for private use, now averages 4,500,000,000 pounds a year. This has been exceeded by no other country in the world except Japan, which in pre-war years produced about 3,000,000,000 pounds annually. The value of this catch of the fishermen immediately before the war was about $90,000,000. Today it is much more; about $200,000,000.

While 90 per cent of the annual fish catch is taken from the oceans, fishery research in the United States for many years was confined largely to laboratories on land. This country was the only nation with important sea fisheries that did not have at least one research vessel to make basic studies on the fishing grounds. This condition now has been partially rectified. The Albatross III, a 120-foot vessel equipped for high seas research, is at present working in the North Atlantic, making a census of the fish populations on some of the major banks and studying marine conditions that affect the welfare of the fisheries.

Ocean fisheries are primarily commercial but those inland are chiefly recreational. There are close to 15,000,000 Americans today who participate actively in the sport of angling. Last year the states collected more than $23,000,000 in angling license fees.

To supplement natural stream production of fish, the federal government operates approximately 100 hatcheries. In one year they produced 58,450,000 trout and other cold water species; 24,600,000 warm water species like basses and sunfishes; and 81,250,000 salmon and steelhead trout, in addition to the hatching of marine species.

The Fish and Wildlife Service is the only federal agency authorized to control mammals injurious to products of the soil, wild animals endangering men or domestic animals through rabies and other diseases, and predators destructive of livestock. This control work ranges from the trapping of pocket gophers damaging irrigation ditches or water conservation structures to the poisoning of rats destroying and polluting food supplies; it includes the reduction of rabid foxes and the control of wolves and coyotes preying on livestock and game. There is careful investigation to avoid damage to beneficial animals and other resources.

That is, that I may be comforted together with you by the mutual faith both of you and me.—Romans 1:12.

STILL FLYING—Those so-called flying saucers continue to be seen here and there around the country.

Latest reports come from residents of the St. Ignace, Sault Ste. Marie and Newberry areas.

Carl Gooseberry and Ward Hunter of Newberry, on their way to their hunting camp near the Two-Hearted River, saw a strange object in the sky. It looked to them "like a blue flame with a white ball of fire trailing it." The time they reported coincided with reports from other observers at St. Ignace and Sault Ste. Marie.

It disappeared within ten seconds, traveling in a southeasterly direction at a speed "much faster than an airplane."

THE MIRACLE MILE—The current issue of Coronet magazine presents "Michigan's Miracle Mile," the story of the Soo locks at Sault Ste. Marie.

Written by Norman and Madelyn Carlisle, the story of the Soo locks is one fairly well known to people in this area—but it no doubt aroused some disbelief among readers less familiar with the stupendous locks traffic.

They might find it difficult to believe the Soo locks are "the world's busiest canal, through which passes more cargo than goes through the Panama, Suez and Kiel Canals combined!"

NOW IN TEXAS—Residents of Delta county will be interested in the news that Dr. Fred O. Tonney, director of the health district in this county a few years ago, will become director of the Cameron county, Texas, health department on June 1.

For the past several years Dr. Tonney has been director of a health department at Shelbyville, Ill. There have been several health directors in Delta county since Dr. Tonney left, and the present director is Dr. William C. Harrison. Another change here in the last few years was the merging of the Delta and Menominee departments into a district unit.

HELPING OUT—A friend in need is a friend in deed. Fred Sensiba, president of Pioneer Aviation, Escanaba, is that kind of a friend.

Escanaba Daily Press readers undoubtedly noted the page one picture of Thursday that showed the Sir. Sullivan Brothers, first boat of the season, approaching the C&NW ore docks. It was an aerial view. The photographer was B. F. "Bernie" Schultz of the Daily Press, and the pilot of the plane that took Bernie aloft was Fred Sensiba.

Two trips high over Little Bay de Noc were necessary before Bernie got the pictures he wanted—and Fred accommodated by flying high or low as Bernie directed. Although the ride was somewhat bumpy because of air conditions, Fred was willing to stay up as long as necessary.

ONE HUNDRED YEARS—The little community of Kates Bay on the Garden Peninsula will be the first locality in Delta county to hold a centennial celebration. The first settlement at Kates Bay was in 1850, and the Delta County Historical Society will assist in the centennial this year with an outdoor program there in August.

The history of Kates Bay is known only to a few older residents, including Mrs. Estella Bergeson, now residing at Ensign.

Mrs. Bergeson has among her possessions a photograph of "old folks of Kates Bay taken in 1876."

Only two other Delta county communities were settled ahead of Kates Bay. They were Flat Rock and Old Masonville, both dating back to the 1830's.

Into The Past

10 YEARS AGO

Washington, D. C.—The second annual Escanaba Smelt Jamboree dinner will be staged at the house restaurant in the capitol building here on Wednesday, April 21. Congressman Fred Bradley again will be host to a group of capital newspapermen and public officials.

Escanaba—L. L. White, chief operating officer, and E. J. Byington, general manager of the Chicago and North Western railway, eastern division, conferred in Escanaba with G. Z. Flanders, division superintendent.

Escanaba—Stock loss and building damage estimated at $15,000 was caused when a fire broke out in the Petersen Furniture company store at 1003 Ludington street.

Escanaba—Delta county has a deficiency of two to three months of ultra-violet light content of the sunshine. Dr. Fred O. Tonney, county health officer, reported after a survey. He said the survey results showed the need for generous use of cod liver oil among growing children.

20 YEARS AGO

Flat Rock—The annual blessing of the automobiles will occur at Holy Family church in Flat Rock this evening. Rt. Rev. Mgr. Jacques will officiate at the impressive ceremonies.

Escanaba—Paul F. Neveerman, secretary of the Marinette Industrial Board, will speak at the Escanaba Chamber of Commerce forum dinner here April 29.

Escanaba—Richard Schram, a student at Marquette university, returned to Milwaukee after spending the Easter vacation here.

Gladstone—Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Strickland have returned from Marinette, where they visited at the Ouden home.

Manistiquie—Miss Mona Bingham returned Sunday evening from a trip to Chicago.

Owosso—Seth Q. Pulver of this city, former state senator and Governor Green's floor leader during the 1927 session, has announced his candidacy for attorney general on the Republican ticket.

Letters From The People

Rural District Roads

Dear Editor:

Some time ago William Karas stated that the families living in rural districts had a great appreciation of the Michigan road problem as the rural district roads are very unsatisfactory.

That is indeed very true but the people of the rural districts are wondering if they will have any good roads in the near future. All the money seems to be going for new trucks, two way radios or new equipment. You can see Delta county trucks going back and forth on roads with two in them looking for washouts or bad roads but as long as the trucks get through, the road is passable.

When we ask for road repairs, the answer is that there is no money. There are small holes on some roads that could be repaired with a load or two of gravel. If there is no money for repair, why are the trucks riding up and down the road with two men drawing good wages? That doesn't help the roads any.

Recently I read where the supervisors made a motion to give two mills of school money to the road commission. What for? To buy a new truck or gravel crusher? I think our schools need what money they are getting to carry on their business if they are going to pull through without being in debt.

Since the road commission has the state highways to care for, they have too much to care for so the rural roads are forgotten. We haven't had a decent rural road since the state highway let the county care for their roads again.

A Rural Patron.

Friend Of Birds

Dear Editor:

Gertrude Charny, was telling us (in your paper) how Cats are killing small birds. But she said nothing about boys killing birds, bad boys you say, yes but good boys do kill birds also. Boy Scouts are good boys are they not? Well, one of them has a record of killing seven robins last summer, and one killed 127 small birds last summer.

There may not be any birdkilling boys in Escanaba but in Manistiquie are many. There is a law in Michigan against killing small birds, but what can a law do when there is no one to enforce it?

A Friend of Birds.

'Luxury Liner' Hauls Ore To Steel Mills; Wilfred Sykes Coming Here About June 1

AP Newsfeatures
LORAIN, O.—On an August afternoon in 1885 the brig Columbia poked its nose through the haze of Cleveland harbor with 132 tons of iron ore from the recently discovered Mesabi range in Minnesota.

This was the first vessel to ship through the new canal at Sault Ste. Marie, Mich. The canal connects Lake Superior with the lower lakes.

Previously all vessels had made the overland journey, on rollers around the rapids at the Soo.

Since that August afternoon, capacities of Great Lakes freighters have grown until today the Sault (called Soo) is the busiest waterway in the world—hauling ore to the hungry steel mills.

This year the Great Lakes first futamake freighter—the Wilfred Sykes—sails with its first ore cargo.

The Sykes, the largest lakes freighter—678 feet long and 70 feet wide—built for Inland Steel, of Chicago, by the American Ship Building Co., also is the fastest on the lakes. Powered by geared 7,000 horse power turbines, the Sykes on her trial run from Lorain, O., made a speed of 17.4 miles an hour. Present lake freighters make between 12 and 14 miles an hour.

The Sykes, with a rakish stem and cruiser stern, will carry 20,000 tons of ore—enough to fill four trains of approximately 100 cars each. The ancient Columbia's cargo would fill a little more than two cars.

The present record ore cargo is 18,725 tons, held by the Benjamin Fairless of Pittsburgh Steamship Co., a subsidiary of U. S. Steel.

The Sykes can carry 28,000 tons, but the Detroit and St. Mary's rivers are too shallow to permit loading to capacity. The St. Mary's river connects Lakes Superior and Huron and the Detroit River, Lakes Huron and Erie.

Present channels are only 23 feet deep and a move already is under way by Great Lakes shipping interests to deepen them to 28 feet.

The vessel is expected to bring down 900,000 tons of ore to Inland's docks at Indiana Harbor, Ind., this year. It will make the round trip from Lorain to Indiana Harbor—831 miles one way—in approximately four-and-one-half days compared with the six-and-one-half to seven days now required by present vessels.

During a season this adds up to 44 trips against 34 today.

The vessel is so large that only three docks on the Great Lakes can unload her—Cleveland and Conneaut, Ohio, and Indiana Harbor.

The Sykes will visit Escanaba about June 1.

Faulty Furnace Gas Kills Benton Harbor Woman; Scores Sick

BENTON HARBOR, Mich.—(AP)—A woman was killed, her husband made seriously ill, and a score of persons were nauseated by carbon monoxide gas in an apartment and rooming house here Thursday night.

Coroner Louis C. Kerlikowske blamed the tragedy on a faulty furnace.

Mrs. Claude Chene, 44, was found dead on the floor of her apartment by a doctor, who had been summoned by her 44-year-old husband. When Chene could give no coherent answers as to what had happened, the coroner was called.

While Kerlikowske was attempting to question the husband, he collapsed. He was rushed to a hospital.

The coroner, doctor and police who were summoned also became ill. They quickly ordered the building cleared, but the gas already had nauseated practically all other residents.

Volunteers Rush Home

PETOSKEY—(AP)—Volunteers, rebuilding a home for Mr. and Mrs. Pat Gregg who were burned out on Easter Sunday, have set a fast pace. Starting this week, 12 men under the direction of Sheriff John Kilborn expect to have the roof on the aged couple's new home by Saturday.

Science Finds Ways To Stop Pains In Heart

By HOWARD W. BLAKESLEE (Associated Press Science Reporter)

BOSTON.—(AP)—Two new ways of stopping the heart pains of angina pectoris were reported to the American College of Physicians.

One is a new Egyptian drug. The other is to poke your finger into your neck.

Weed Found In Arabia
The drug is khalin. It comes from a weed common in Arabia and the Eastern Mediterranean countries. Extracts are used for colic.

Doctors Harold L. Osher and Kermit H. Katz, of Boston City hospital, reported using khalin on 28 persons, all with bad cases of angina pectoris. All but three were much relieved.

Thirteen had been unable to work because muscular activity caused heart attacks. Eight returned to work. These included laborers, mechanics and housewives.

Khalin reduced the frequency of painful attacks as well as raising muscular activity. The drug dilates arteries. Angina pain comes from constriction in arteries which feed working blood to heart muscles.

Some patients were taking nitroglycerine for the heart condition.

and Richard McClinchy which is taking place Saturday, April 22.

tion. Khalin reduced the amount needed.

For Doctors Only

The drug is manufactured for doctors only by Smith, Kline and French laboratories, Philadelphia. It is not for sale.

Dr. Katz told of stopping angina pain almost instantly by poking one finger against a patient's neck. This was done with patients who volunteered as guinea pigs.

They brought on attacks by taking exercises in the doctor's presence.

He then would place one finger up on the side of the neck, over the carotid sinus, a nerve center.

Pressure at that point stopped the pain. This experiment is part of a study of the possibility of relieving angina pains by treating nerve reflexes. These pains are fairly widespread, in chest, neck and upper arm.

Sunnyside PTA Officers Installed

BARK RIVER—Newly elected officers of the Sunnyside Parent-Teacher association of Bark River were installed by the retiring president, Mrs. Rodger Quist, at Wednesday evening's meeting at the school.

They are: Mrs. Arthur Sundquist, president; Mrs. Leo Brunelle, vice president; Mrs. Elmer Turnquist, secretary; Mrs. Lawrence Erickson, treasurer; Mrs. Stanley Ponegalek, historian.

The unit reported a successful Red Cross drive in charge of the South Bark River solicitors, Mrs. Quist, Mrs. Adolph Urbanc, Mrs. Herbert Porth and Stanley Ponegalek. Plans were made for a picnic for the school children to be held in May. Mrs. Carl Bolm and Mrs. Lawrence Knauf will serve as lunch chairmen. No Parent-Teacher meeting is planned for May.

The program featured a puppet show presented by second and third grade pupils who designed and made the clever puppets and the stage setting. The stories were "The Fisherman and His Wife" and "The Princess Who Never Laughed." Piano accompaniment on numbers, "A Bicycle Built for Two" and "Bernice Polka" were played by Joseph LaVigne, Jr.

A basket social followed with Rodger Quist, auctioneer. Lunch was served those who did not have baskets by Mesdames Arthur Sundquist, Rodger Quist, Frank Barr, Louis Wangles, Victor Nelson, Mike Skrobiak, Clarence Anderson, Elmer Turnquist, Lawrence Erickson, Carl Bolm and Elmer Sundquist.

The first food to be shipped by refrigerator car was eight tons of butter, from New York to Boston in 1851.

THE FISHKILL-Variations In Design Give This House Distinctions

Rooms Six
Bedrooms Three
Closets Five
Cubage 17,000
Garage 3,000
Overall Dimensions
Of House Only 24' x 33'
With Breezeway
and Garage 24' x 52'

Variations from the square type of house add to construction costs but, if the budget permits, they result in a much more attractive dwelling. "The Fishkill," which is introduced today by the Home of the Week Plan Service, is a good example of how not-too-costly extras can produce a most pleasing house.

The extras in this case include setback construction on the front of the house, a small dormer at the front, shed dormer at the rear and the use of tongue-and-grooved boards for the outside finish of the front gable end as a variation from the narrow clapboarding used elsewhere on the exterior walls.

Has Six Good-Sized Rooms
The Fishkill contains six rooms, all of good size. Yet the house has overall dimensions of only 24 x 33 feet not figuring the breezeway and garage. The cubic content of the house is 17,000 feet, the garage would add 300 feet to this figure. This house could be built on a corner lot with a 50-foot frontage; if an inside lot is used it would have to be at least 70 feet wide. The architect recommends that the house be built to face from southwest to northeast.

White painted outside walls would blend nicely with a green asphalt-shingled roof and green shutters. Little landscaping should be necessary for this ground-hugging house.

From the front stoop—which could be enclosed in winter if desired—a Colonial door opens on a jog of the living room. A coat closet is back of the front door and open stairs to the second floor ascend directly opposite the front entrance. The dining room is seen through an archway at the right of the stairs.

Library Possibilities
The setback of the front wall of the living room, with built-in bookcases filling the two small side walls and the wide picture window centered in the long wall, offers possibilities for a library arrangement of furniture. The fireplace, flanked by two small windows, suggests a fireside chair

Home Building
Hits New High1950 Housing Law
Will Give BoostBy DAVID G. BAREUTHER
AP Real Estate Editor

Home building, now at an all-time high, is getting an added boost from the Housing Law of 1950, just passed by Congress. Authorizing 30-year mortgages, this legislation greatly broadens the home purchasing power of families in the $50 to $100 weekly salary brackets.

At the same time it ties in with the refund of GI insurance money, which is expected to add $2,800,000,000 to personal incomes by the middle of this year.

The Construction Research Bureau of New York, representing manufacturers of building equipment, has completed a survey among war veterans, which indicates that 19 per cent intend using their GI insurance refunds to buy and furnish homes of their own.

This survey shows that close to 40,000 applications per month are now being made for GI home loans, in contrast to a low of 20,500 in March of last year.

Lower Monthly Payments
The 30-year mortgage, authorized by the federal law, is expected to increase greatly home buyings among veterans. It brings monthly payments down much lower than under existing mortgage arrangements.

The National Association of Home Builders points out that the new law provides strong incentives for home buyers in the $6,000 to $9,000 price range. New homes financed with FHA insured mortgages can be purchased under a plan calling for $500 cash down on a $10,000 four-bedroom house for non-veterans.

"With 30 years to pay," the builders' association points out, "the monthly carrying charges would be approximately $50, plus taxes and insurance."

Small Homes Boosted
The law provides a maximum mortgage of $6,650 on a two-bedroom house. The owner puts down a minimum of five per cent cash. Another $950 is added to the mortgage for each bedroom up to four. The FHA has the authority to raise the mortgage limits in high cost construction areas.

Prospective home buyers in low-cost construction areas, particularly rural sections and the south, southwest and far west, will benefit substantially from another new type of financing provided in the law.

This is the section that allows builders to erect soundly built small houses costing $6,000 and less. On these the buyers pay only five per cent down, or $300,

SOME housewife sneaked into the Toastmaster's engineering rooms! No one but mama could dream up the Toastmaster Waffle Set that is on display at Moersch and Degnan. Besides the neat round iron that bakes the waffles to perfection, there is a bowl, syrup jug, AND a ladle that measures just the right amount of batter for each waffle! I suspect the housewife also had a hand in designing the Toastmaster Hospitality Set. This includes a double toaster on a huge leather lined tray. Beautiful glass dishes (three at one end, four at the other) hold any amount of snack food. At Moersch and Degnan the Hospitality Set sells for $32.50.

Answer: You knew it all the time if you have Culligan Soft Water! All the hard water curd is removed from the water and you need no special shampoo preparations to keep your hair lovely. You can use up to 33% less coffee to brew a better beverage, and a softer beard means fewer razor blades! Only three of the amazing ways you save with Culligan!

AN early reminder from me to you—Sunday, May 14th, is Mother's Day. Be sure to pick out a Mother's Day greeting card from the large display of Norcross cards "America's Favorite" at the Office Service Co.

ROLL up the carpet! You'll feel like dancing when you hear the new tune that's ringing out from the Home Supply Co. as they introduce "Carillon", a new carpet fashion by Bigelow that really rings the bell. The new weave and pattern combine to give a highly styled, carved effect of two tone beauty. The deep piled "Carillon" comes in gray, rose, beige and green and is only $9.95 a sq. yd. It's National Carpet Week, so hurry down to the Home Supply to see all the new patterns on display. You'll roll up those carpets, and you'll roll down some new ones!

YOU can still be suited at too late to make a smooth selection from the tweeds and gabardines—$14.98 to $35. And such smart sharkskin and gab suits in half sizes (16½ to 24½) for only $35. To complement your suit are pastel and navy blouses in larger sizes for only $1.98 to $3.98. At Wards, any time is suitable—just come down and see!

APPLAUSE, please, for Garrard Jewelers. They've stocked those smart new b i b necklaces that you see in Vogue and other high style magazines. Pearls combine with gold or silver in a lacy pattern that looks so right on that black dress. Chalk white, pastel and vivid summer jewelry has also made its appearance at Garrard's.

LET'S have a little light on the subject. The Photo Art Shop has two new brass lamps that will do nicely. One is a boudoir lamp with a base in the candle stick design. The glass shade is decorated with a floral trim. The other is the always popular hurricane lamp. Both sell for $3.50 each at the Photo Art.

I DON'T like to be a booster. But I found a huge chop plate and a mammoth chicken roaster. And you'll want to kiss me, Kate. When I tell you about the low price of the new pottery that has just arrived at Eden's Gift Shop! It's cream colored oven ware that's painted with splashy dark red flowers and green leaves. The aforementioned plate measures 15 inches across—only $1.75! The large casserole is only $2.75. There are individual casseroles too, and a lovely salad bowl.

A MINATURE horse drawn carriage that I saw at Gust App's doubles as a pin and a whatnot decoration. When you wear the carriage, which is an unusual lapel pin, you merely detach the horse and leave it on the shelf! Gust has another pin, a miniature grandf. ther's clock, that is also designed in two parts. Hop down to see them—on the double!

Teacher Found Guilty In Saginaw Killing Of Mother Of Nine

SAGINAW, Mich.—(AP)—Schoolteacher Cecil I. Angle was convicted of manslaughter Friday in the roadside slaying last Nov. 13 of Mrs. Pearl Walters, 49-year-old mother of nine children. A jury of six men and six women deliberated only five hours before reaching a verdict at 12:25 a. m. Maximum penalty under the manslaughter conviction is 15 years imprisonment. Circuit Judge Eugene S. Huff set no date for pronouncing sentence.

Angle, 46, was arrested after a pair of eyeglasses found near the woman's beaten body in a roadside ditch was traced to him. Defense attorneys had argued (1) That Mrs. Walters was not the woman hitch-hiker with whom Angle had argued and fought, and (2) That the roadside fight followed an attempt by the woman to rob Angle of $500 he had on his person.

Angle taught classes in an adult education continuation school here.

Mountain Gal Is Doing Fine

Dorothy Shay Sings Way To Success

By ROBERT C. RUARK

WASHINGTON—Mr. Rocky Riley, a sage gentleman who steered me through the first processes of turning journalistic silk purses back into sows' ears, used to say that when you get scooped you admit it and go along with the story if the story is any good. This, then, is by way of apology to Mr. Riley and also to Miss Dorothy Shay.

I scooped myself on Miss Shay some four years ago, when she was just beginning to bust into the high time. I might even have been known as her discoverer, since I had the opportunity and turned it down. Some press agent called up and said he had a dame who sang hillbilly songs in a sophisticated manner, and I said something profane about press agents who bothered other people about anybody who sang hillbilly songs in any manner, and so did not discover Miss Shay.

This was obviously an error, because Miss Shay has become just slightly less famous than Winston Churchill, merely by singing songs about feudin' and fightin' and her Uncle Fud and her halfwit Uncle Harry. That last ditty seems to go particularly well in Washington, where Miss S. currently finds herself, and where I finally caught up with her, at, as David Windsor says, long last, Came by Accident.

Miss Shay, a middle-thirties gal from Jacksonville, Fla., seems to have spotted a trend in her approach to the arts. Judging from her reception, the world was waiting for relief from a torch-song approach, and hungry for hillbillys.

"Ah was a self-styled, sexy-type singer back in '33 or '34," says Miss Shay, in a good sound guttural and gravelly accent. "Ah sung a song about Uncle Fud one night in a club ah was workin' for, an encore, because ah just plain didn't know any other songs. All of a sudden ah am a sophisticated hillbilly, whatever that means."

"Ah got a theory. Ah think people are tired of being torched at. Ah think they are sick of messages and sorrow and problems. Ah hillbilly isn't supposed to have any problems. He is supposed to loaf around all day long, drinkin' moonshine an' chasin his first cousin. He is relaxed. Ah'm relaxed."

ed. Ah guess ah relax people who listen to me."

In this sophisticated city, Miss Shay relaxes people so hard that she is barely able to tear herself away from the ambassadors, senators, lobbyists, oil barons and other odd fauna who flock to the Hotel Statler to hang onto Miss Shay's slyly wicked account of why she is doin' all right for a mountain gal. She is roughly as hot as the young Frank Sinatra used to be among the adolescents, except that Miss Shay deals in older adolescents.

As Hated of Himself

"Ah feel a little guilty about takin' the money," says Miss Shay. "When ah drive that big ol' Cadillac of mine down that Park avenue in New York, and when ah think about my nice house ah got in California, ah swear, ah feel a little bit ashamed of mahself. Ah just stumbled into this business, and ah sure ain't anxious to stumble out."

Miss Shay's guilt complex afflicted her most strongly when she opened in New York at the St. Regis, some years back, and found herself surrounded by downagers.

"Ah was real shah," says Miss Shay, meaning shy. "Ah looked at all those old ladies with the big beezoms all hung out in orchids and diamonds, and ah almost started to sing hillbilly with a Park avenue accent. Changed my mind, sung it the way ah always did, and the second night all those ol' gals were hollerin' hey, Dottie, give us some more Uncle Fud! Ah guess ah was just a relief from those songs like 'ah'll Never Smile Again,' and all those message movies. Ah swear," said Miss Shay. "I can't hardly stand to go to a movie any more, on account of all those messages. One thing about Shay, she sure is a girl with no message."

She Loves Fame
Miss Shay loves fame, but is occasionally embarrassed because she forgets names easily, and is constantly worried about hurting somebody's feelings when they seek her out.

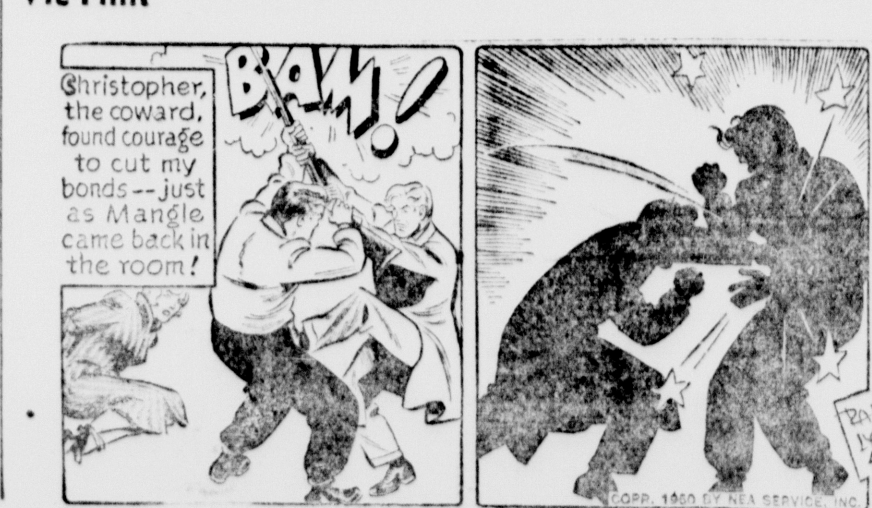

"There was a fellow in Buffalo, one time," she says. "Ah knew him well enough for him to ask me to marry him. He came around to a party ah was giving one night, and you know, ah couldn't for the life of me remember what his name was."

Miss Shay is an entirely refreshing artist, in that she has no ideas of global psychology, and does not intend to run for Congress, is unentangled with ideology, and is seemingly unjealous of her contemporaries. She is doin' all right, she figures, for a mountain gal, even if she was raised on the seacoast.

Former Ecorse Mayor Starts Prison Term

MILAN, Mich.—(AP)—Former Mayor William W. Voisine of Ecorse began serving his eight months to two years sentence for lying to a congressional committee.

Voisine was brought to the federal correctional institution from Washington, where he was convicted by a jury April 3.

The former mayor was convicted of lying when he denied before a House Public Works Subcommittee in 1948 that he received under-the-table premium payments for steel in the post-war shortage era. He is a former official of the Wayne Sheet Steel Co.

He gave no details but said, "They have, in the last two months, been able to take some boys that were pretty far along the way and completely remove the symptoms."

Atomic Studies May Help Heart Disease

NEW YORK—(AP)—Sumner T. Pike, acting head of the atomic energy commission, says atom research may have uncovered a promising treatment for advanced heart disease.

He told a meeting of life insurance underwriters that dietary research plus radio-active tracer studies of the blood supplied background for the new treatment.

He gave no details but said, "They have, in the last two months, been able to take some boys that were pretty far along the way and completely remove the symptoms."

Reorganization

A decision to re-organize and broaden the scope of the Manistique Schoolcraft Association of Commerce was made at a meeting of the Board of Directors on Thursday night, April 20, it was announced today by Leonard J. Harbick, association president.

The board voted to employ the services of William H. "Bill" Frederick to act as secretary and plan the reorganization.

"The board felt that Frederick's years of experience in this field should prove invaluable in properly setting up the new organization, and in building a comprehensive program for the betterment and advancement of the entire Manistique area," Harbick said.

Frederick first came to Manistique in April 1949 as manager of the Manistique studio of radio station WMAM. This position is now held by his wife, Patricia Frederick. Previously Frederick served for 13 years as executive director of the Madison Business association, Madison, Wis., and served as promotion manager of the Southern Wisconsin Lake-lands association, also as chairman of the resort and vacation division of the Wisconsin Chamber of Commerce.

Plans were also made to hold a general meeting of all Association of Commerce members and others interested in the new organization in the very near future. The date and place of the meeting will be announced in a few days.

Germfask VFW
Auxiliary Holds
Its Installation

An impressive ceremony of Edward James Doran V. F. W. Auxiliary to Post 8962 was held Thursday evening at the Germfask Community Building at an open meeting.

The beautiful Cross of Malta March was used to seat the officers and President Maude Burns after opening the meeting formally and welcoming all guests, introduced and turned the command of the Auxiliary over to the District Senior Vice President, Mrs. Bertha Vaughan of Manistique who served as installing officer and conducted the entire ceremony from memory.

Officers installed were: Maude Burns, president; Berdella Decker, senior vice president; Blanche Orlich, secretary; Betty Beloune, treasurer; Ann Skariff, chaplain; Marion Jack, conductor; Veretta Gager, assisting conductor; Bessie DeLaurier, guard; Jennie Swisher, historian; Ethel Decker, patriotic instructor; Sarah Cornell, banner bearer; Valeria Ruppert, flag bearer; Mary Ann Cornell, Mary Rutherford and Myrtle Mortenson, color bearers. Catherine Nickerson, color bearer and Patricia Hollister, musician were unable to be present but will be installed later.

An election will be held later to fill the office of Junior vice president made vacant by the recent death of Mary Reath.

The installing officer, Sister Bertha Vaughan, was presented with two lovely gifts as tokens of appreciation for her work and assistance.

Out-of-town guests present were from Newberry, Manistique and Lakefield.

Delicious refreshments were served at the close of the evening.

Three applications were submitted for membership.

Bethel College
Girls Chorus To Present Concert

The Bethel College Girls' Chorus of St. Paul, Minnesota, will render a sacred concert at Bethel Baptist church on Tuesday evening at 7:30.

The chorus, under the direction of Nels Stjernstrom, visits Manistique as part of a tour beginning at Duluth, Minn., and closing at Eau Claire, Wis., giving concerts in 13 cities.

The chorus, highly acclaimed in the Twin Cities, is composed of 28 members from many parts of the United States. Ruth Martinson, of Manistique, is a member of the group. The girls will also make an appearance in the high school.

A free will offering will be taken. The public is cordially invited.

There are approximately 51 different varieties of Irish potatoes.

Asks Observance
Of "God's Day"Legion Urges Good
Church Attendance

Sunday, April 23 has been set aside by the Manistique American Legion Post No. 83 as G-Day, "God's Day" and everyone is being urged to attend their respective churches on that day.

Don Martin, chaplain of the local post, points out "That all mankind today faces the choice between God and chaos. Americans have always chosen God. Our founding fathers looked to God for guidance, protection and wisdom. We need to be closer than ever to God in times of peril."

Within the Legion, April is Child Welfare month and it was felt that particular emphasis should be placed on religious guidance for children and youth in order to best guide them in training for future good citizenship.

In taking the lead in this worthwhile program, the Legion's position both insofar as divine guidance week and the emphasis on religious training for children and youth is designed to inspire the rest of the world to broader and more cooperative attitudes in solving human differences, Martin explained.

Amateur Program
By Lions Club
Monday Evening

Seventeen contestant numbers, in addition to a few specialty numbers are scheduled for the Manistique Lions Club Amateur show at the high school auditorium next Monday evening at 8 o'clock. A matinee at 4:15 o'clock will be held for school children.

J. Earl Cousineau, of the high school faculty, will officiate as master of ceremonies and Miss Geraldine Gorsche will provide accompaniment for those on the program.

Specialty numbers will include an accordion duet by Miss Janet Dixon, of Gulliver, and Steve Borko, of Manistique; a number specially arranged by the Lions club and songs by the master of ceremonies.

Contestants will be introduced for their numbers and later will be called back for a brief number resume, at which time audience applause will be recorded on an applause meter. Winners selected on the basis of applause will be announced at the end of the program.

Thirteen Seek
Justice OfficeCouncil To Consider
Appointment Monday

The Manistique city council, at its regular meeting Monday evening, will be called upon to pass on the merits of thirteen candidates for the office of municipal judge.

The number who had made application for the job was sixteen, but three had withdrawn before the deadline for filing occurred. The names of the applicants have been withheld, but it is known that one is a woman.

The office of judge was left vacant when Edwin Gray, recently elected to the position, resigned after serving but a few days.

Among other matters up for consideration will be the submission of a tentative budget for the coming fiscal year.

Betty Duquette
Becomes Bride Of
Robert L. Lasich

In a ceremony performed this morning at 10 o'clock, Miss Betty Jean Duquette, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Duquette, 232 Schoolcraft avenue, became the bride of Robert L. Lasich, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Lasich, North Cedar street. The vows were exchanged before the Rev. Fr. E. H. Berendsen in St. Francis de Sales parsonage.

Attending the couple were Miss Joan Carmona, close friend of the bride and Roland Burns, nephew of the bridegroom.

The bride chose for her wedding a green suit with white accessories and a corsage of red roses and sweetpeas. Her attendant wore a gray suit with black accessories and a similar corsage.

Mrs. Duquette, mother of the bride, wore a blue dress with black accessories and Mrs. Lasich was attired in a green dress with black accessories. They wore corsages of mixed flowers.

Following the ceremony a wedding dinner for the bridal party and immediate relatives was served at the home of the bride's parents. A tiered cake, topped with a miniature bride and groom, centered the table. A reception for 75 guests is being held this evening at the Duquette home.

Mr. and Mrs. Lasich are making their home in Manistique.

The bride was honored at a miscellaneous shower on Monday evening at her home. Hostesses were Mrs. Duquette and Misses Joan Carmona, Virginia Demers and Mrs. Sally Slack. Games were played with prizes being awarded to Miss June LaFreniere, first and Miss Jacqueline Thorell, second. Miss Betty Chernick received the special award. Lunch was served later after which the gifts were opened.

On-The-Job Farm
Training To Be Discussed Monday

World War II veterans residing in the Cooks vicinity are invited to attend a meeting at the Cooks Consolidated school building Monday evening at 8 o'clock, where on-the-job training for farm workers will be discussed.

Ray Ranguette, superintendent of the Cooks school, states that something new, regarding this program which has been under consideration for the school for some time, will be presented at the meeting.

S. Aubinger
Is SummonedMarriage Ties Of
59 Years Severed

Sebastian Aubinger, 86, a resident of Manistique for 61 years, passed away Friday night at his home on North Sixth street. He had been in feeble health for a number of years. His passing severed marriage ties that have existed for fifty-nine years.

Mr. Aubinger was for many years employed by the Soo Line but had retired long ago. He was born in Germany on January 16, 1891 and came to Manistique in 1935. Two years later, he was married in Manistique to Miss Bertha Brueckmayer. They started housekeeping in their North Sixth street home and have maintained that residence continuously up to the present. He was a member of St. Francis de Sales Catholic church.

Surviving him are his widow, Bertha; four daughters, Mrs. John Richard Sheboygan Falls, Wis.; Mrs. James Scott, Hickory, Corners; Mrs. Virgil Henry, Manistique; and Mrs. Leonard Nelson, Niagara, Wis.; two sons, Sebastian, Leominster, Wis.; and Herman, DePere, Wis. There are also 26 grandchildren and five great grandchildren.

Funeral services will be conducted Monday morning at 9 o'clock at St. Francis de Sales Catholic church. The Rev. Fr. E. H. Berendsen will conduct the funeral mass and burial will be in Lakeview cemetery. Friends may call at the Kefauver & Jackson Funeral Home.

The Morehead Planetarium at the University of North Carolina, said to be the only one on an American campus, draws thousands of visitors annually.

and Mrs. Phillip Barnes.

Social

Mission Circle

A large group of members and visitors attended the meeting of the Mission Circle of the Bethel Baptist church on Thursday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Peter Wicklund, Alger avenue. During the meetings talks were given by Rev. Harold Martinson, pastor and two visiting pastors, Rev. Mattson of Iron River and Rev. Perry Hedberg of St. Paul. Lunch was served later by Mrs. Wicklund and Mrs. Clay Anderson, assisting hostess.

Handy Hands Extension Club

The regular meeting of the "Handy-Hands" Extension club was held Monday afternoon at the Thompson town hall. Mrs. John Olsen was hostess.

Mrs. Henry Archey, chairman, conducted a business meeting. Mrs. Clarence Whitman and Mrs. Richard Popour, project leaders, presented the lesson, "Legal Phases of Home Management."

The purpose of this lesson is to provide information that will assist persons to understand social business procedures. It is not intended to provide a substitute for expert legal advice when such is needed.

A delicious lunch was served by the hostess, assisted by Mrs. Matilda McPhail. Other members present were Mrs. William Arnold, Mrs. Emory Rieckhoff, Mrs.

Sound Advice From A Successful Man

Great men usually are remembered for some bit of life's philosophy they have left for coming generations; so it's not surprising that a great Chicago merchant who recently died left this bit of advice: "Be Neat." May we assist you in carrying out this wise old man's advice?

City Baseball Meeting Called Sunday Afternoon

Starts At 2 At St. Anne's Group May Enter Rainbow Loop

Escanaba baseball players, here is your chance.

A meeting will be held at 2 o'clock Sunday afternoon at St. Anne's school on South Eighth street to determine whether there are enough boys wanting to play hardball to warrant promoting a city team.

The meeting was called by Rev. Louis Cappel, assistant pastor of St. Anne's church.

His announcement followed an informal meeting last night with several community leaders interested in starting a city baseball team.

They included: George Grenholm, city recreation director, Al Ness, head of the American Legion junior team; John Schwalbach, old time Escanaba baseball player and former manager of the Bears; Ken Gunderman and Charlie Larson of the Daily Press, and Fr. Cappel.

Organize Backing

Members of the group will confer with Hugh Grow, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce, and other civic and industrial leaders in an effort to get solid backing of the community.

Fr. Cappel said he had been assured informally by Rainbow league officials that an Escanaba team would be welcome to join that circuit. At present, it is a 10-team league but a Marquette Legion team is seeking entrance. With Escanaba, it would make a 12-team circuit.

Sunday's meeting is open to all prospective players and fans. A special invitation is being extended to such young players as Jack Beck, Dick Schwalbach, Ronnie Sedenquist, Minnie Minard, Bob Paterek, Buddy Webster, Bobby Kolb, Tippy Legault, Dick Lough, Jerry Harris, Ray Berndt, Charlie Olson, Dick Barron, Bob Dufour, Jack Schills, Duane Brown and Bud Kenneally.

Sports Roundup

By HUGH FULLERTON, JR.
NEW YORK—(P)—When the Green Bay Packers started their publicized $200,000 stock selling drive the other day, 470 enthusiasts set out at 8 a. m. to ring doorbells. The first checkup at 5 p. m. that day showed a "take of $3,000—leaving only $197,000 to go." Nat (Ring Mag) Fleischer, who'll be honored at the CCNY sports dinner next month, organized and presided over the athletic association as an undergraduate, managed the college's first profitable basketball team, won his letter in track and did newspaper work on the side. That was merely training for some real displays of energy in later years.

Ten Furlongs, Breezing
Ralph Kercheval, one-time Kentucky and pro footballer who looked after derby candidate Bed O' Roses all winter, figures managing Al Vanderbilt's Sagamore farm is a cinch compared to playing football for the old Dodgers. . . . Ralph likes to tell about the Dodge days when Herman Hickman spent half his time on his hands and knees giving hot foots. "We didn't have the platoon system then," Kercheval explains. "I played the full 60 minutes in the first 10 games, then got off easy with only 55 minutes in the last."

Sportsmentions
Scotty Wilson, Western Michigan college shortstop, was hit by pitched balls his last three times up against Ohio U. and his first trip in the next day's game. . . . That must be what you'd call playing on a dime. . . . Abe Saperstein, the Harlem Globe Trotters boss, maintains "the amusement dollar is very discriminatory" these days. . . . Very few of them discriminate against Abe. . . . J. J. Zarza, Wayne U. grid coach, hauled out his old 1936 All-Star football pants to wear at practice. "I've never failed to have a good year when I wore them," Lou explains.

State Overpowers Purdue Nine, 8-5
EAST LANSING—(P)—Michigan State's baseball Spartans were out to make it two in a row over Purdue today after taking the Boilermakers 8 to 5 yesterday. Outfielder Jack Kinney of Owosso banged out four hits, including a line drive home run that carried over the left field wall 365 feet away.

Three runs in the opening frame and two more in the second gave State a lead it never relinquished. Purdue, led by third baseman Bob Rasmussen, picked up two scores in the second and one each in the fourth, fifth and sixth. Rasmussen had two hits and drove in three runs.

Homer By Wertz Pushes Tigers To Top Of Heap

DETROIT—(P)—The Detroit Tigers, perched atop the American league standings, called on right-hander Art Houtteman today to get them their fourth straight victory, this one another over the Chicago White Sox.

The Rolfemen delighted 44,642 chilled fans yesterday as they broke out with a pair of late inning homers, to sink the Chicagoans 4-1 in their first Briggs stadium appearance of the season.

Vic Wertz and Johnny Groth smashed those four-baggers to beat Mickey Haefner and send the White Sox down to their third straight defeat.

Groth's seventh inning homer tied the score at 1-all and was reminiscent of his major league debut last year in which he pounded out two homers to beat the Chicagoans 4-1.

But it remained for Wertz to come through with a big three-run homer in the eighth to send the large opening day crowd home happy.

Pitcher Virgil Trucks, who held the White Sox to five hits, got the winning rally underway when he doubled off the left field fence to start the inning.

Pitcher Haefner got Johnny Lipon on a fly ball and Gerry Priddy on a grounder to ease the pressure.

Then the White Sox gambled and lost as they walked George Kell intentionally because first base was open.

Wertz then batted his first homer of the season and the Tigers had themselves a 4-1 ball game.

The White Sox pushed over their lone run in the fourth as Hank Majeski doubled to score Gus Zernial.

Now Or Never For Red Wings
DETROIT—(P)—The puzzled Detroit Red Wings revamped their lineup today as they hoped to turn back the New York Rangers' bid for the Stanley cup hockey championship tonight.

The New Yorkers sport a 3-2 lead in the series and can wrap up the championship by winning game No. 6 tonight. If Detroit triumphs and ties the series, a seventh and deciding game will be played here Monday night.

Veterans Clare Martin and Pete Babando, both of whom have seen practically all of the series from the bench, were called on for active service again as the Wings juggled their manpower.

Return of the two experienced men means that a couple of rookies will be benched tonight.

Ranger camp reports indicate that the orphaned New Yorkers are confident they will post their third straight win over the Detroiters.

Sugar Robinson Gives Foe Lesson

COLUMBUS, O.—(P)—Sugar Ray Robinson, welterweight champion, showed young Cliff Beckett how to box, feint and counterpunch here last night before putting him out for keeps late in the third round.

Beckett, of Sudbury, Ont., was bleeding profusely from cuts over his left eye and the back of the head when Referee Mutt Shartz called a halt with 1:45 gone in the third.

The non-title fight, which drew 2,331 fans, was scheduled for 10 rounds.

SOFTBALL MEETING
A reorganization meeting of the Escanaba Steam Laundry softball team will be held at the laundry Tuesday night at 7:30 o'clock. All players are requested to attend. The team finished in a tie for first place in the National league last year with a 17-8 record, but lost the playoffs to Northland Stores.

'Whammy' Goads Browns To 2-Game Win Streak

ST. LOUIS—(P)—Dr. David F. Tracy is taking some credit for the flashy showing of the St. Louis Browns this season.

Tracy sits in a box seat and puts the "whammy" on the ball team's opponents. A psychologist, he was hired to give Ty Cobb complexes to the young Browns players.

Whether it's his whammy or confidence pills—or just plain heads-up baseball—the Browns are off to a flying start this year. They breezed to victory over the Chicago White Sox, 5-3 and 6-1, in their openers.

Tracy figures he's the man who started the team to that second triumph. Power of suggestion, he summed it up this way last night:

"Before the game, I told Dick Kokos to step up there and slam a home run. His first time at bat he did just that. And with a man on."

Tracy said he regarded that as a good sign because the 22-year-old Kokos has been one of his toughest "subjects."

Winning two opening games in a row may not sound like much of a feat to some baseball fans. But take a look at the Browns last season. They won the first game, then dropped seven straight. Then they won two in a row—but lost their next 10. They squeezed in another victory, and followed that with 11 straight losses.

Tracy has worked with the Browns all spring. During the Grapefruit season he conducted classes and patted shoulders of men he felt needed individual attention.

What does Manager Zack Taylor think of it all?

"My kids are hustling and they've got a winning complex," he declared. "They're a hungry ball club, kids who are trying to make the grade, and they're going to win a lot of games this summer."

He recalled that the Browns last year won only 17 games and lost 89 away from home.

"Well, we only have to win 15 more games on the road during the rest of the season to tie last year's record," Taylor chuckled.

FIRST PRACTICE
Members of the Liberty Loan softball team will hold their first practice Sunday at 2:30 at Ludington park. The team won the American league championship last year.

Spilling The Dope

By Charlie Larson

Grunt . . groan . . grunt . . crash . . robber!

That's just to warn you that big time wrestling is coming back to Escanaba.

The sport has changed a lot since it disappeared from the local scene almost a quarter century ago.

It is coming back streamlined . . . and streamlined. The boys are showmen now.

Winning isn't the thing any more. It's giving the crowd a good show.

It is not unusual to see one of the wrestlers clunk the "ref" on the noggin . . . or toss him out of the ring when things get dull.

Or if necessary, there is nothing in the rules these days (mainly because there just aren't many rules in the pro sport) to prevent both rasslers from ganging up on the hapless third man in the ring.

It's all in good fun. Of course, a few bones crack now and then. But that goes with the price of admission.

Strangely enough, rassling "as she is done today" isn't entirely a male spectator sport. It is as popular with the female of the species as with the men. Mebbe even more so.

And, baby, when you get a gal screaming for blood in a tea party like the groaners put on, you've really got something. They aren't satisfied with mere mayhem. They won't settle for less than slow, agonizing murder.

Wander over to the junior high school gym next Thursday night. You'll have a lot of fun.

Our old friend, Charlie Beyer, veteran athletic director and coach at West high in Rockford, Ill., will be given a testimonial dinner at Rockford Wednesday night . . . "Uncle Charlie," relative of George Weingartner, former Rock coach, is retiring at the end of the school year . . . he was a great athlete in his prep days at Green Bay . . . and a prince of a guy.

George Grenholm is toying with the idea of having a baseball clinic here the last two Saturdays in May . . . he's trying to line up some major league stars to come here and give local boys pointers . . . a great idea.

"I Got Joe Page!" Chant Pays
(By The Associated Press)
"Yeah, but I got Joe Page!" That has been Casey Stengel's stock reply in nearly every discussion concerning the relative merits of his New York Yankees and the power-laden Boston Red Sox.

More than once during the recent spring training grind the Yankee manager was reminded that the Red Sox owned the greatest hitters in Ted Williams and Vern Stephens and the best pitchers in Mel Parnell and Ellis Kinder.

To all this, the grizzled Stengel would reply: "Yeah, but I got Joe Page."

The statement becomes more significant every day as the American league pennant race swings into the close of the opening week.

To date, the Yankees have played four games. They've won three and lost one. Page, brilliant relief artist, has been summoned to relieve faltering mates in three of them. The Yankees won all three. Page saved two for other hurlers and received credit for the other.

Manager Joe McCarthy will long remember how the southpaw ace stopped his Red Sox cold last Tuesday and Wednesday with four scoreless innings, two in each game. Now the Boston skipper has company in Bucky Harris, veteran pilot of the Washington Senators.

Harris, who like McCarthy, once bossed Page as manager of Yankees, sweated and fretted yesterday as Fireman Joe set back eight of the nine men to face him to help the Yankees defeat the Senators, 14-7. It was the Yankees' home opener.

Page relieved starter Tommy Byrne in the top of the seventh in the midst of a Washington rally that produced five runs and gave the Nats a 7-7 deadlock. He yielded a run-producing fly and a single that tied the score. But with the potential winning runs on the bases, Page settled down to retire Sam Dente for the third out, then set back the ensuing six men in succession to gain his first triumph. A seventh inning home run by Joe DiMaggio with a mate aboard off Mickey Harris shattered the 7-7 tie.

A home crowd of 44,642 watched the unbeaten Detroit Tigers register their third straight victory by defeating the Chicago White Sox, 4-1. The only other unbeaten American league team is St. Louis, winner of its first two games. The Browns and Yankees were idle yesterday.

Maurice McDermott, 21-year-old lefthander, gave Manager McCarthy a swell present on his 63rd birthday when he pitched the Red Sox to an easy 3-2 triumph over the Philadelphia Athletics. The youngster hurled seven-hit ball to spoil the home start of Connie Mack's 50th season as manager of the Athletics. Stephens hit a bases-loaded homer in the ninth.

Grand Slam Homer
A grand slam home run by Catcher Roy Campanella and super clutch pitching by Preacher Roe helped Brooklyn whip the New York Giants, 8-1, in the Dodgers' home opener. Campanella's blast came in the third inning off southpaw Dave Koslo to highlight a five-run outburst.

The Chicago Cubs turned the tables on an old nemesis when Bob Rush outpitched Harry Brecheen to give the Cubs a 2-0 triumph over the St. Louis Cardinals. Brecheen, who previously had beaten the Bruins 27 times in 34 decisions, allowed only three hits. Two of them, however, were triples by Hal Jencoat and Wayne Terwilliger, each figuring in a run.

Ralph Kinner hit his first home run for Pittsburgh, but the majors' home run king had to play second fiddle to teammate Wally Westlake. The muscular outfielder hammered two homers and a single to drive in six runs and lead the Pirates to a 7-5 victory over the Cincinnati Reds.

A thunderstorm ended the Philadelphia-Boston game in a 2-2 tie after the Phillies had failed to score in the top of the eighth inning. When the tarpaulins were removed after a 30-minute delay, the water-covered field was ruled "unplayable" by the umpires.

Mangrum Near Comeback Test
VIRGIA BEACH, Va.—(P)—Lloyd Mangrum figures today and tomorrow will determine just how far he has traveled along golf's comeback trail since a shoulder injury kept him out of action for several months.

Mangrum, leading money winner of 1948 and fourth in 1949, has been established as one of the favorites in the 54-hole, $10,000 open medal competition of the third annual Cavalier specialists' tournament.

Top-flight professionals and a handful of amateurs started teeing off this morning in the first round of medal play.

Slowly, the drawing 35-year-old Mangrum seems to be battling his way back. The fellow he has reason to fear most is Jimmy Demaret, at present golf's hottest shot.

Demaret, Jim Ferrier of San Francisco, and Bob Toski, 23-year-old star from Northampton, Mass., all turned in four-under-par 65's in the pro-amateur event here.

Ferrier was hot again yesterday. After trouble on the front nine, he had his putter working to perfection after the turn and led his four-man group to triumph in the $500 specialists' team match. Ferrier's mates were Norman Van Nida, of Sydney, Australia, long and medium irons specialist; Ed Furgol, of Royal Oak, driver; and Jim Turnesa, of Briarcliff, N. Y., the trouble-shooter.

DOUBLE VICTORY
KALAMAZOO—(P)—Kalamazoo college split its tennis team yesterday, put the two halves 400 miles apart and came up with a pair of 7-0 victories. The top five on the Hornet squad beat the University of Iowa at Iowa City, and the rest took care of Alma here.

Tri-County Loses Vulcan And Norway

BARK RIVER—Final organization meeting of the Tri-County baseball league, which will have eight teams this year, will be held Wednesday night at the Bark River Community hall.

Frank J. Rodman of Hermansville, league secretary, said the league schedule would be drafted at the meeting next week.

The league will start play Sunday, May 21.

Russ H. Simmons, league president, said Norway Hilltoppers and Vulcan had dropped their franchises in the circuit.

The league did not accept applications for memberships by Daggett and Wallace.

As the league now is organized, it will comprise Powers, Hermansville, Bark River, Perronville, Stephenson, Wilson, Foster City and Felch.

Wolves Tip Gophers In Big Ten Victory

ANN ARBOR—(P)—Michigan boasted a victory in its first Big Ten baseball start today after stopping Minnesota 6 to 2 behind the five-hit pitching of Ed Grenkowski.

The two teams meet again this afternoon.

The Wolverines collected 11 hits, including a couple of triples by Leo Koceski and one by Grenkowski.

It was the second defeat in three conference starts for Minnesota.

Bowlers Expected To Shuffle Standing

Another heavy assault on the Arcade alley maps this weekend is expected to end with several major changes in standings of the Upper Peninsula Bowling association tournament.

Only changes resulting from midweek bowling were in the all events in which Austin Stegath of Escanaba moved to third place with 1,722 pins and in the booster division. Stegath Lumber company of Escanaba moved to first with 2,622. Furblo of Escanaba went to second with 2,605 and Herb's Bar of Rock went into fourth at 2,429 with Corbett's Corner of Escanaba.

Williams Wants $15,000 To Study Reds In Michigan

LANSING—(P)—Governor Williams asked the legislative appropriating committee Friday for $15,000 to finance a special commission to study legislation to curb the Communist party and Communist activity in Michigan.

Williams said it was his intention to appoint to the commission "the best legal and constitutional authorities I can find" including members of the law school faculties, the legal profession, the courts and the legislative judiciary committees.

He said it should go exhaustively into the problem, consulting such authorities as J. Edgar Hoover, head of the Federal Bureau of Investigation, and Maj. Gen. William Donovan of the wartime office of strategic services as well as veterans, civil rights, religious, labor, business and civic groups.

Williams' proposal was a partial reply to a request of a recent American Legion anti-Communist rally here for legislation outlawing the Communist party in Michigan.

Red Scare Raises Doubts About U. S.

By MARQUIS CHILDS

WASHINGTON—To the state department has come a mass of material in recent weeks showing the effect abroad of the quarrel in Washington over Communism in government. While for the most part it is not registered in specific actions, it is nonetheless real.

Above all, it is reflected in doubts about America's intentions and capacity. These doubts take two special and frequently repeated forms that come out in the inquiries made of our ambassadors by the foreign ministers of other countries and in the editorials of foreign newspapers normally friendly to the United States.

The first concerns our intention to go through with a cold war against an implacable and relentless foe. The foreign minister of one of the western European democracies expressed it this way:

"We do not see how you can be so frivolous as to indulge in the kind of controversy if you really mean what you say about resisting Soviet Russia."

Truman, Communist? The second doubt relates to America's capacity. If even half the implications and charges are true, then this nation must be seriously weakened. A newspaper in Rio De Janeiro said editorially:

"Tomorrow it would not surprise anybody if President Truman himself is accused of being a Communist. . . . Giving the impression abroad that there is the possible existence of a vast Communist cell inside the state department under the leadership of its very leaders. . . . It is something that cannot contribute to raise the prestige of those who wish to defend democracy against Communism."

Foreign observers who know something of the thinness of the charges are puzzled and disturbed by the extraordinary emphasis placed on the quarrel. They wonder if this reflects some deep-seated fear that has eaten into the American will and the American character. If this neurotic fear is an actuality, then again they question America's capacity to resist in a long and grueling contest.

We ourselves are convinced that we have the resolute answers to such doubts. But even with President Truman's "great campaign of truth" we may not altogether quiet these doubts and fears. And they react directly on the will to resist of those whom we seek as allies in Europe and Asia.

Lincoln Day Speech The origin of the McCarthy affair indicates the casualties with which the explosion was touched off. According to one of the most influential Republicans in congress, Senator McCarthy original speeches on Communism resulted from an assignment given by the Republican senate campaign committee in anticipation of the Lincoln's birthday celebrations across the country.

Speech subjects were parceled out to the various senators who would speak. McCarthy was assigned Communism in the Democratic administration and, in particular, in the state department. But some of his colleagues were dismayed when he gave specific figures and later offered to prove his charges about individuals.

Called on to offer proof, McCarthy approached many persons for help. One of them was Father John F. Cronin, S. S., of the National Catholic Welfare conference in Washington. Father Cronin has spent 10 years compiling a file on Communism for the Catholic church.

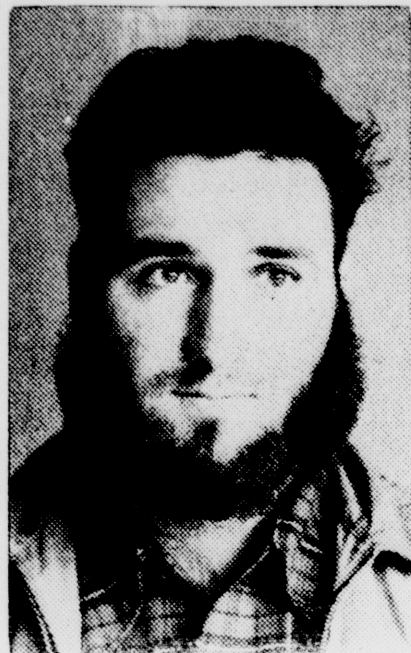

As he put it later in an interview in the Milwaukee Journal, Father Cronin told McCarthy that he could not help him because his investigation had shown that today there is not one known Communist party member in the state department. In the interview he said it was "unfortunate that McCarthy went to such extremes."

"If Senator McCarthy had charged that Communist sympathizers and security risks might be in the state department, he would have been able to prove it," Father Cronin said.

After General George C. Marshall became secretary of state in 1947, he put John E. Peurifoy in charge of the department's loyalty program. Peurifoy started a vigorous program to weed out possible Communists, homosexuals and other security risks. He did such a thorough job the department was attacked for "persecuting" innocent men and women for their ideas—Bert Andrews of the New York Herald-Tribune got a Pulitzer prize for showing up the department's "persecution."

The point is not whether the department was overzealous or under zealous but that channels do exist to remove bad security risks and the machinery for this process has been demonstrably effective. To put the charges in to politics is to do far greater harm than we in this country can realize.

The first potatoes in North America were planted in Rockingham County, N. H.

UNPICKED BEAVER—Cliff Gillis, 22, Gladstone, started raising this beautiful crop of "spinach" on January 4 in order to compete in the beard-growing contest which is a part of the Milwaukee Sentinel Sports show now under way. He failed to win the prize. Gillis, along with Bobby Bizeau, Gladstone birler is now at the sport show at Milwaukee.

California University Settles Argument Over Loyalty Oaths

DAVIS, Calif.—(P)—The bitter University of California loyalty oath controversy appeared to be settled today.

By a 21 to 1 vote yesterday, the university board of regents withdrew its "sign up or quit" ultimatum to the 11,000 university employees and adopted a compromise proposed by a special committee of the alumni association.

The action, at a special regents' meeting on the university's college of agriculture campus here, came just nine days before the April 30, sign-or-quit deadline.

It provides that instead of signing the special non-Communist oath, faculty members and other university employees may sign a contractual letter stating they are not members of the Communist party.

Faculty members who do not wish to sign either the letter or the oath may petition for a hearing before a committee of the academic senate, self-governing body of the university faculty.

America Should Hold Russians As Hostages, Gen. Donovan Declares

PHILADELPHIA—(P)—The United States should seize and hold 10 Russian soldiers and sailors now in this country as "hostages" for the 10 Americans in a Soviet plane shot down by the Soviets in the Baltic Sea, says Maj. Gen. William J. (Wild Bill) Donovan.

Donovan, wartime head of the Office of Strategic Service, said the Americans may be alive and prisoners of the Russians.

"The 10 Russians should be held until indemnity which the United States has asked is paid," Donovan said. "Or until the Americans are returned safe and sound—and the possibility that they are prisoners of the Russians should not be excluded."

Donovan made his remarks at a press conference preceding a cancer crusade luncheon. He is national chairman of the campaign.

Safety Campaign Is Planned Here

M. F. Ettenhofer, chief of police and William E. Miron, Delta County sheriff, attended a meeting of Upper Peninsula chiefs and sheriffs in Marquette yesterday, to draw plans for a safety campaign to be conducted in Upper Michigan in May.

About 50 U. P. law enforcement officers attended the planning session yesterday, conducted by Lt. Willard Wixom, of the Marquette State Police post.

The campaign will open with a drive to check brakes, beginning May 1, and will be followed by an intensive campaign to control speed, which will begin June 15.

Pine Ridge 4-H Girls Attend Achievement Day

PINE RIDGE—A large group of Pine Ridge 4-H club members participated in the annual spring Achievement Day at Escanaba senior high school today.

They included: Joyce Ann Winling, Delores Anderson, Edith Sundquist, Sharon Donahue, Margo Pincock, Carol Jean Senquist, Mary Schaut, Phyllis Larson, Gail Derouin, Doris Borman, Judy Barnhart, Christine Matthews, Ethel and Darlene Rouse, Patsy, Barbara and Alice Herbst.

Features in the talent show included a solo, "Make Believe" by Joyce Ann Winling and a duet, "Beyond the Sunset" by Margo Pincock and Mary Schaut.

The club members had lunch at the Sherman hotel and at 2 modeled their garments on the stage of the auditorium. Each 4-H girl was presented with a corsage, the gift of the Pine Ridge Parent-Teacher association.

Leaders in sewing at Pine Ridge are Mrs. Leonard Winling, Sr. and Mrs. Andy Anderson. Mrs. Louis Schaut is leader in knitting.

Land Run Celebrated With Rodeo Today

GUTHRIE, Okla., — (P)—The lusty run of '89—history's most fabulous race—got its once-a-year glory again today.

Some 75,000 persons are expected in this state's first capital to celebrate the run which gave a chunk of land to the pioneering white settlers opening the old Oklahoma territory 61 years back.

The small fry mingled with the old folks—many of them bearded and cowboy-booted—to watch a parade and rodeo. The old timers came to town and relive that April 22 high noon when the crack of a cannon sent them rushing towards land which was theirs for the taking.

"The entire celebration," officials say, "is a tribute to the remnants of the sturdy pioneers who brought civilization to unassigned lands."

Almost 100 men who made the run will be honored guests.

Socialists On Ballot

LANSING, — (P)—The department of state reported today that the Socialist Workers' party of Michigan has filed sufficient petition signatures to secure a place on the November election ballot.

It is the first so-called minority party to gain a ballot position. A recently developed voice magnifier system for use for public address and similar purposes consists only of a hand microphone, a loudspeaker horn and a six-volt battery.

Briefly Told

Bicycle Licenses—Bicycle licenses are on sale at the police station. Every bicycle in the city must carry a license by May 1, the department emphasized today.

Apply For License—Application for a marriage license has been made at the office of the county clerk by Alfred J. Asplund of Iron Mountain and Marjorie Sundin of Ensign.

Dog Licenses—All dogs in the city of Escanaba must be licensed and tied by May 1, M. F. Ettenhofer, chief of police, advised today. The dog ordinance, requiring that dogs be licensed and tied, is effective until Sept. 1. Dog licenses are now on sale at the police station.

Fire Calls—The Escanaba fire unit was called to the James Myers residence at 717 Second avenue south at 6:22 p. m., Friday to control a chimney fire. There was no damage. The fire unit also was called to extinguish a grass fire behind the veterans housing project yesterday.

Held On Check Charge—Francis Smith, 28, of Gladstone, arrested at Ironwood on a charge of issuing bad checks, is being returned to Escanaba today by sheriff's officers. It is charged that Smith passed a bad check for $30 at an Escanaba store. He will be arraigned in Justice Henry Ranguette's court.

Bitten By Dog—Jean Martinson of 1410 North 18th street, two-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Martinson, suffered injuries to her nose and mouth yesterday when she was bitten by a dog. She was treated by an Escanaba physician and returned to her home. The animal is owned by Norman Pulley of 1322 North 18th street. Police have ordered the dog tied for 10 days.

New Machine Prints Tickets Automatically

DETROIT—(P)—The Burroughs Adding Machine Co., has a new gadget designed to speed up ticket-selling at railroad, airline and bus stations.

Burroughs said the machine "will automatically print tickets to any destination from blank stock, showing the date, serial number, fare, type and class of ticket."

The ticket seller will merely select the proper plate from a rack and insert it in the machine. And presto, the machine will turn out a complete ticket, with the exact price printed on it.

Baltic Incident Stirs U. S. Ire Against Soviets

The Russian note restated the Kremlin's claim that on April 8 an American B-29 flew over Soviet Latvia, opened fire on Russian fighter planes and was in turn fired on—after which it disappeared.

Thousands Of Acres Covered By Dakota And Minnesota Flood

(By The Associated Press)

The Dakotas and Minnesota battled their worst floods in more than 50 years today as rain-swollen rivers and streams spilled over thousands of acres of land.

Thousands were made homeless by the spring floods—an estimated 7,000 in North Dakota alone. Many towns were isolated and others were endangered. All of North Dakota has been declared an emergency area. The Red and James rivers were the major trouble spots in the North Dakota.

At Minneapolis, the U. S. weather bureau posted flood warnings for industries located on lowlands along the Mississippi river. The big stream overflowed its banks in north central Minnesota, forcing many farmers to leave their homes.

ed. That was precisely the position which the Kremlin had taken in a previous protest to Washington last week.

Between the two Russian communications, the United States had sent a note declaring that there were no military aircraft in the Baltic on April 8 other than an unarmed navy Privateer, that it was this plane which Soviet fighters had attacked, and that the plane was lost as a result.

Indemnity Bill Rejected

This country took the position, which Acheson reaffirmed yesterday, that Russia should pay indemnities for the loss of American lives and property, and that the incident itself harmed peace and orderly diplomatic relations.

Russia retorted that it couldn't even consider the indemnity demand.

The United States could now appeal to the United Nations on the ground that world peace had been endangered by Russian action or to the international court, charging a violation of international law.

However, some of Acheson's advisors feel that either course probably would be useless.

A basic consideration in state department thinking, it was learned, is to try to avoid actions which will needlessly dramatize the affair or inflame public opinion, thus increasing uneasiness over the prospect of war.

Attitude Insulting

In line with this thinking—and also because most officials say the United States would have little to gain from such a move—the idea of disrupting all official contact with Russia is generally ruled out by responsible administration policy makers.

Meanwhile, by public statements such as Acheson's, by making use of the Voice of America foreign broadcasts, the state department is pointing to the Baltic incident as proof of its basic policy line: That Russia is primarily concerned not with world peace but with the expansion of Soviet Communism.

Acheson called the claim that an American B-29 had violated Soviet territory "fictitious."

He linked the Russian notes on this incident with Soviet intervention in the Trieste situation and with the renewal of Moscow's demand for special rights in the Danubian. All three, he said, are evidence that the Soviet Union this spring is trying to stir up trouble in critical areas of the world.

While Acheson's words were calm, angry phrases characterized the reaction in congress.

McCormick branded the Russian attitude as "insulting."

Chairman Vinson (D-Ga.) of the house armed services committee called the destruction of the American plane and its crew "cold blooded murder of Americans by a foreign power." What the United States needs, Vinson said, is armed forces strong enough "to insure Russian respect."
